Earth Week---Cleanup Near Tracks

By JON POWERS

KINGSTON
Penn Central Railroad right of way in the City received a facelifting today—but only because Charles Cole, his staff at the Board of Public Works and an enthusiastic band of ecology-minded high school students decided to do the work themselves.

More than 15 miles of railroad tracks wind their way through Kingston and, according to Cole, "They're a disgrace."

The tracks, an assortment of sidings and spurs, and a few feet of property on each side of the tracks are owned by Penn Central. According to Cole, that bankrupt firm has staunchly refused to clean the piles of litter and debris that have accumulated along the tracks over the years.

Cole has even written to the Public Service Commission, but to no avail. He has not even received a reply.

So Cole, his men and the students will do the work themselves. "We might be treading on their toes," said Cole, "but we're willing to take that gamble."

Some of the more "militant" ecologists in the group are willing to take an even greater risk. Some have threatened to establish a human barricade along the tracks at the several entrances to the city if Penn Central does not alter its stand concerning the "junk" that is piling up on its property in the city.

Special

Penn Central's reaction to the frequent BPW complaints is, according to Cole, one of shrugging off the responsibility. "They say that they don't litter the property, and they're right. But if someone throws garbage on your sidewalk or lawn, you've got to clean it up yourself."

Cole's plan to clean up the railroad properties in Kingston originated at a recent meeting of the Environmental Task Force, whose members were searching for a special program to undertake in conjunction with Earth Day.

The Task Force enthusiastically endorsed Cole's suggestion and then went about recruiting volunteers. Cole admitted that he expected only about 10 or 15 people to volunteer for the cleanup campaign, but his estimates turned up short. More than 200 students, most of them from Kingston High School, said they were willing to chip in and help.

The response, however, was too great. Cole said he had only enough equipment to furnish 50 volunteers; the rest would have to wait their turn for later cleanup drives.

Cole then approached Dan Allen, KHS principal, who permitted the 50 students to leave school today to take part in the project.

Work began early this morning, with the volunteers combing several areas of track in the city for cans, bottles, papers and brush. All the debris was then loaded into plastic bags and carried to a refuse truck and then discarded by a BPW crew.

Cole did not expect to complete the project today, and he didn't. But he reminded that there are still 150 volunteers who are willing to continue the project. "We'll do this again three or four times until Memorial Day," he said, "until we clean up these areas, or until Penn Central is motivated to do the job themselves."

Six Cent Tax Hike Eyed for Cigarettes

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—An ex-Republican legislative leader is being made to get New York smokers to pay for the desperate needs of the cities.

Three Republican state senators have proposed a bill, being filed today, that would raise the state tax on a pack of cigarettes from 12 cents to 18 cents. Such a move would provide $75 million for local governments, $48 million of that to New York City.

The 6 cent increase would go into effect July 1.

With reports circulating here that Gov. Rockefeller and the demonstrations to oppose the smaller increase and would not doubt be even more agitated this time.

By lowering localities' share of the state income tax from 21 to 18 per cent, the legislature cost the local governments $75 million.

Goodman said further restoration of money for the localities would be sought. Such areas as welfare, Medicaid and the City University of New York are in need of more help, he said.

A former member of Mayor John V. Lindsay's administration, Goodman said he would also seek legislative approval of a home-rule measure allowing most of Lindsay's $880 million tax package to be considered by the City Council and the Board of Estimate. But this would mean giving up an increased tax on commuters sought by Lindsay, he explained.

Sen. John J. Marchi, R-State Island, the influential chairman of the Committee on the City of New York, had been working on a plan to restore money. He consulted with New York City officials, reportedly with the blessing of Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges, in an effort to come up with an acceptable plan.

Although the three sponsors went ahead on their own, Marchi said, "I think this is a hopeful development. It may be what we're looking for. It's been on the laundry list (of possibilities) all along."

A spokesman for Lindsay welcomed the initiative, but he warned that a restoration of the revenue-sharing money would only be a "drop in the bucket," still leaving the city with the need to lay off at least 50,000 employees and cut back services.

Budget Cuts Force Shift of Patients

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

The 311 Ulster County patients who reside at Middletown State Hospital are to be moved to the Hudson River State Hospital in Poughkeepsie, according to word received from the State Mental Health Department.

The move is due to a partial close down of Middletown's facility due to employee cutbacks stemming from the state's budget economies.

Four buildings containing 15 wards will be closed with the resultant removal of a total of 626 patients who will be transferred to other hospitals. A total of 193 Sullivan County patients will be moved to Binghamton State Hospital, 78 patients in the children's unit will be moved to Rockland County and 44 narcotic patients will be transferred to Manhattan.

Grouping the patients according to geographical location has "therapeutic advantages," according to Harold Wolfe, assistant commissioner of communications for the State Mental Health Department. Patients benefit from being with persons from their own county while under hospitalization and it is also advantageous for hospital treatment personnel who later coordinate after care services with local mental health agencies.

The move to transfer the patients will follow the expected cutback of about 360 employees at Middletown State Hospital, 60 per cent of which are in patient-care areas. The employees are expected to leave about mid-May or in June.

Wolfe said that the effect of the state's budget cuts will also be felt in Ulster County in less state aid to public and volunteer mental health agencies. The original $75 million for such state aid has been cut by $9 million to $66 million, which means less money for reimbursement, he said.

Wolfe added, however, that it will be at least a month before the exact amount of impact on local mental health agencies can be determined. He said that computing the cutbacks is time consuming and that any state-ments made at this time would be guesswork.

Dr. William Taylor, Ulster County health commissioner, utilization concept entails when asked how the state's grouping patients geographically economies would affect his department, agreed with Wolfe, saying that most statements and attendants caring for them during their hospital stay.

THERE'LL BE SOME CHANGES MADE IN THESE TWO BUILDINGS.

Students Continue Sit-in On Vassar Faculty Firings

By WADE BURKHART

POUGHKEEPSIE

A sit-in by 100 Vassar students, protesting the hiring and firing of faculty, continued today disrupting administrative activities with their action.

The group of students calling themselves the Ad Hoc Student Committee on Faculty Firings, occupied the north wing of the college administration building, according to college authorities.

The committee claims a "solid 100" students are participating in the sit-in.

The group is protesting the non-renewal of contract or non-firings during the past year were "arbitrary and invalid," and they demanded changes in the appointment and tenure procedures for the faculty.

Leaders of the group said the firings were decided by the college president and a faculty advisory committee.

The committee presented three demands to Vassar College President Allan Simpson. The demands called for the retention of all faculty members whose contracts terminate in 1971-1972 until "an appropriate review procedure is established," the establishment of a Committee on Faculty Appointment; and that this new committee reconsider standards for tenure and renewal "appropriate to a small liberal arts college."

The statement of demands from the students declared the firings during the past year were "arbitrary and invalid," and they demanded changes in the appointment and tenure procedures for the faculty.

The committee on faculty appointments, they noted, should consist of three tenured faculty, three non-tenured faculty and three students. The committee's recommendations shall be sent to the president of the college. If he does not submit objections in six weeks, the recommendations shall be regarded as binding.

The students have vowed to continue the sit-in until they are "satisfied with the communication on these demands."

They entered the building at 12:30 a.m. today following a general assembly of students and faculty to discuss these demands last night. The group said support of these demands were overwhelming.

The Steering Committee of the group emphasized to The Freeman that there were no leaders of the committee and all decisions were being made democratically.

Administration officials say the group has been threatened with disciplinary action but members of the Steering Committee denied it. The committee said they "heard someone shouting in the hall," and have heard disciplinary action mentioned, but have not been formerly threatened.

Offices have not been entered in the occupied wing, according to the Steering Committee. They said the sit-ins would remain only in the hallway. They characterized the sit-in as a "non-violent civil disobedience protest."

Offices in the occupied wing include the offices of the dean

Stuyvesant Street Project--- Rehabilitation Bids Opened

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

The rehabilitation division of the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency announced the bid opening for its most ambitious project in Broadway East, the $46,012 renovation of two buildings on Stuyvesant Street.

Bids on the project, involving two brick buildings at 22 and 28 Stuyvesant, were opened last week with Bert Bishop Inc., of Kingston coming in with the lowest proposal. Approval of the bid by Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) in New York City is expected by the middle of next week.

Approval of the project will bring rehabilitation in Broadway East to virtual completion, "more than 90 per cent" according to Robert D. Peck, who along with C. Robert Cousins, form the agency's rehab bureau which has channeled more than $85,000 in grants and low-interest loans into the Broadway East area in the past four years. Cousins has been with the program since its inception which Peck recently returned to under Section 312 of the federal housing law and allows for three per cent loans for up to 20 years for property owners in a rehab area and or outright grants for homeowners who either earn less than $3,000 a year or whose combined cost for the upkeep of their homes adds up to more than 25 per cent of their incomes. Most people who get grants (which can be as high as $3,500 per homeowner) qualify through the 25 per cent clause.

The rehabilitation of 22 and 28 Stuyvesant Street will be extensive both inside and out on the two buildings owned by Whitrich Enterprises: two IBM ers. Rodney Whitaker and John Rich. The larger of the two buildings, No. 22, will be converted from an eight-apartment dwelling to a seven-unit apartment house with an office. Reconstruction costs are pegged at $27,500.

The smaller building, No. 28, will remain a four-unit building, renovated at a cost of $18,512.

Both buildings will have completely new heating and plumbing systems along with extensive electrical alterations. Specifications on both buildings call for new (dropped) ceilings, new floors, paneling and painting of walls, new bathroom fixtures, the installation of kitchens, new insulation, new drains and gutters, new storm windows and extensive landscaping which includes the removal of eight dead trees and the planting of shrubs and grass. Parking for the larger building will be provided for six automobiles while the smaller building will have parking for two cars.

But while the rehabilitation total in Broadway East may top $150,000 it could go several times higher in the uptown project although both projects are under the 312 program. The reason, Peck explains, is that each business, according to federal regulations, is eligible for up to $50,000 at three per cent for up to 20 years.

"However," Peck points out, "very few cities have applied for that kind of program and there are even fewer instances of it being granted. We're going to find out as soon as possible whether that money is available."

The agency plans to submit "a few" business applications for rehabilitation funds to the HUD offices in New York "as soon as possible."

4th Jetport at Stewart

NEWBURGH, N. Y. (AP) —

The Newburgh Evening News said today it had learned that Gov. Rockefeller plans to announce this Saturday the choice of the former Stewart Air Force base as the site for the New York metropolitan area's fourth major jetport.

The former Air Force base was turned over to the state's Metropolitan Transportation Authority last year and the MTA has been operating it as a general aviation airport.

Ellenville School Budget . . . A Disagreement

By WADE BURKHART

ELLENVILLE
Ellenville School Board President James J. Murray said it was pained as finely as possible and still allow the school system to operate properly. Board member Jack H. Siegel disagreed.

The item in question was the proposed Ellenville school budget for school year 1971-72, presented for public hearing last night. The budget total is $3,706,275, a 9 1/2 per cent increase over last year's budget.

Murray told the approximately 75 people in attendance that the board had gone over the budget carefully, and he felt that further cuts could not be made without weakening the school system.

The biggest increase was in the cost of instruction, a $208,429 hike, mostly due to negotiated increases in salaries. Transportation costs would go up $50,396, and employee benefits would jump $57,213 if the budget is adopted as is.

It won't be adopted as is if Siegel has his way. He called for cuts in school system jobs, and general "belt-tightening." He said it was not necessary to hire more office help, and he urged that the vacancy in the high school assistant principal's slot that will occur in September remain unfilled.

Siegel said, "The people must tell the board to cut this budget."

Murray went through the proposed budget item by item, inviting comments at the conclusion of each page. Considerable discussion was held over the $1,000 proposed for the continuance of the newsletter sent to district residents, and the funds required for the operation of the library.

Murray said the newsletter was the basic information the board felt should be provided to district residents. He said that some of this information would not be the type carried by news media.

Suggestions from the floor concerning the library ranged from closing the high school library to combining the school and village libraries on school property. Murray said all the possibilities had been thoroughly examined, the libraries were "fully utilized", and if anything the libraries should be expanded, though funds did not presently permit such a course of action.

The cost of operation and maintaining the plant will rise $34,170 in this new budget. Murray said this was largely due to the rise in the cost of fuel oil. He said the price had jumped from 6c per gallon to 13c per gallon in the past year.

The final budget will be presented at the school district's Annual Meeting May 4. Voting will occur May 5 from 12 noon to 8 p.m.

If approved, the budget, as it now stands, would require a tax increase of $18 per $1000 assessed value. The present tax rate is $132.54 per $1,000.

Murray also pointed out that the district had exceeded the amount budgeted for 1970-71 in transportation costs by about $15,500. State law requires that the residents of the district approve the expenditure by vote of any amount of overage in the transportation budget. This proposal will also be the May 5 ballot.

All residents of the school district for more than 30 days prior to the voting day who are over 21 and citizens are eligible to vote May 5.

Committee Gives Reasons For Endorsing Corsones, Sleight

A spokesman for the Independent Committee for School Board Elections said today that the group endorsement of Mrs. Evelyn Corsones and Bevier H. Sleight Jr., as candidates for re-election May 4 to another 5-year term on the Kingston Consolidated District Board of Education was based on their "qualifications, experience, capability and understanding."

John H. Shults Jr., the committee spokesman, noted the group considered both candidates were "worthy incumbents deserving of another term."

"Our committee was created six years ago to provide school board members independently, disassociated from any partisan basis, whose goal is the continuance of good educational principles," Shults added. He noted that the committee nominated Mrs. Corsones in 1966 and "now we feel that she and Bevier Sleight have proven their dedication and ability."

Mrs. Corsones is a native of Kingston and a graduate of Kingston High School and Syracuse University. Prior to her marriage, she was a therapeutic dietitian at Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center.

As an incumbent board member she has served on all committees, for two years she was chairman of public relations and in 1969-70 served on the negotiating committee.

Mrs. Corsones also served on a special committee with parents and the transportation of-handbook. Sleight, a native of Kingston, is a graduate of Kingston High School and holds a bachelor of science degree from Washington-Jefferson College. He has been employed by Hercules, Inc., since 1938, serving in various capacities in Kenil, N.J., Lawrence, Kansas and other areas, and has been manager at the Port Ewen plant since 1965.

Candidate Todd . . . Drug Use Alarming,

KINGSTON
Ward Todd of Hurley, a candidate for one of two open seats on the Kingston Consolidated School Board of Education, today warned that the most alarming use of drugs in the county appears to be in our secondary schools and not in colleges, as might be expected.

"The Ulster County District Attorney's office has warned the Kingston Consolidated system about this," said Todd, "as they have publicly noted that there are some 200 students in the district, known by name, involved in drug traffic."

"It has been noted," Todd continued, "that for every nowhere,

Board member he has served as chairman of the building committee which saw the completion of the Edson, Zena and Rifton Schools. He also served on the bargaining committee in 1968.

In urging support of the candidates on behalf of the committee, Shults said, "they deserve reelection for all they have done for the education of our children and the wise way that they have handled taxpayer's money."

student in D.A.'s office known by name, there are at least three more that it doesn't know of."

"From activities that I have witnessed and been told of," the candidate said, "I am sure that even these figures do not come close to the real story."

Todd said that marijuana and so-called "pep pills" are becoming more and more widespread in the junior high schools in the Kingston district and there are even scattered reports coming from our elementary schools.

The candidate charged that, "the laws and our courts are apparently helpless and the state programs are going nowhere."

Petition in Rhinebeck Against Leaf Burning

By TIM SCHUSTER

RHINEBECK
Village trustee David Queen identified himself as the "paid state employee" circulating a petition against leaf-burning in the village in Mayor Peter F. Sipperley's statement yesterday.

"He is referring to me," said Queen, when asked by The Freeman whether he was circulating a petition.

"I am a state employee, but I am also a citizen of this county and am certainly not acting as a representative of the state in this affair," he explained.

The subject of the difference of opinion, which has split the Board of Trustees in addition to many village residents, is today's public hearing by the State Department of Environmental Conservation at the Town Hall here.

Hours of the hearing are from 2:30 p.m. to 7 p.m., or until everyone is heard. Persons submitting written statements to the department within seven days will also have their opinions registered.

"I have a difference of opinion with the mayor," said Queen, but he added he did not see any reason for bringing his employment with the state into the picture and that this was an attempt to cast an unfavorable light on his activities. "I am also a Village Trustee," he said, saying that this gives him an additional right or duty to pass a petition or influence village residents toward what he believes to be the best course of action.

Queen said he has been circulating his petition calling for the retention of the no-burning application to the village for the "past two days" and has received "not a very large" number of signatures, but a substantial number nonetheless.

Another aspect of the question brought out by the trustees is his concern for the health of residents afflicted with breathing difficulties.

"When I got into this, I realized that it is just a minority that has illness to be affected," by the burning leaves, he said, "but I believe that this minority is entitled to equal protection."

Queen has two daughters who have been afflicted with bronchial asthma. He had the same problem as a child, but has outgrown it.

He pointed out that he has served on a rescue squad and as a volunteer at St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie, and has seen many persons with asthma and emphysema with breathing difficulties because of atmospheric pollution.

Queen planned to attend today's public hearing and present his petitions.

When asked what alternative to open burning, or the present expensive pickup method, of disposing of the truly gargantuan amounts of leaves generated by Rhinebeck's veritable forest of trees he might have, Queen suggested the following:

"I believe if the village officials made as conscientious effort at picking up these leaves as in fighting the state law, there would be very little problem."

"I would have the Board of Trustees work together to set up a scheduled collection similar to garbage collection for the leaves, and follow it."

And the trustee noted that the village owns the necessary equipment right now, including a leaf-loader new 1 1/2 years ago, to do the job correctly.

President Nixon Honorary Ping Ponger

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has accepted honorary membership in the U.S. Table Tennis Association, the group Vice President Spiro T. Agnew is reported as saying fell into a Chinese propaganda trap.

Without announcement, Nixon accepted the membership Wednesday from Graham B. Steenhoven, president of association and leader of the U.S. table tennis team that toured mainland China last week.

It appears significant that Nixon called Steenhoven to the White House following Agnew's privately expressed concerns about the team's China visit.

Agnew told Republican governors in a private session Monday he was concerned by overemphasis on the Chinese tour by the 15 American athletes, and about the way the tour received press coverage in the United States.

He was said to have feared an adverse effect on the Nationalist Chinese government based on Taiwan.

Nixon presumably could only be less than happy about Agnew's reported statements never denied. They followed the announcement on a five-point Nixon plan aimed at renewal of at least limited trade and travel between the U.S. and China.

All forthcoming participants in inner-council arguments that preceded Nixon's decision agreed that the vice president took a skeptical stance at the time.

While most Cabinet members have kept silent, Secretary of State William P. Rogers made a rare for - direct - quotation statement Tuesday that, in effect, he could hardly be happier about the recent developments.

Moreover, the State Department placed an "excellent" rating on reporting from China by the three American newsmen permitted to travel there with the U.S. table tennis team.

Agnew, by contrast, has been quoted as questioning the reporting job done by the American newsmen.

Chinese table tennis players have an oral invitation from Steenhoven to make a return visit here. They have accepted in turn.

After meeting with Nixon for about an hour Wednesday, Steenhoven said a more formal written invitation will be extended almost immediately.

He said that if the Chinese want a private session with Nixon, "then I'll ask the President to accommodate them."

The White House wouldn't say publicly whether Nixon would receive the prospective visitors, but knowledgeable sources said he would be delighted to do so.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said visas for the Chinese, if they want to come, will be expedited.

Expansionist Policies The Stand on Economy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's chief economic advisor says the administration plans to pursue policies that are "vigorously but responsibly expansionist" in light of a first quarter which saw inflation slow to its lowest rate in four years.

The cost of living climbed 0.3 per cent during March, spurred in part by higher food prices, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported Wednesday. But it said the March increase was coupled with a 0.2 per cent rise in February and a 0.1 rise in January for a first quarter annual rate of 2.7 per cent—the lowest since the first quarter of 1967.

The chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, Paul W. McCracken, described the report as "exremely good news" and "very reassuring in this battle to try and stabilize price levels."

He said the government would pursue expansionist policies in an effort to achieve a reasonably full employment economy by 1972.

McCracken, however, said he did not want to give the impression that he believed the battle against inflation had been won. He said there were "cross currents" in the new figures, including a higher than usual increase in food prices and a decline in mortgage rates.

Sen. William E. Proxmire, D-Wis., who has been an administration critic on economic matters, conceded the price index figures were encouraging. But he said the administration should move to reduce the unemployment rate, now 6 per cent of the work Americans.

On School Desegregation

Dixie Senators Ask National Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Continuing the government applies separate standards to the North and South, Southern senators are urging Congress to write a policy to be administered by the White House.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., planned to ask the Senate today to add the uniform policy to a Nixon administration bill authorizing $1.5 billion a year to aid states in school desegregation.

Another pending amendment, by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., would allow school districts to use the money for any purpose.

By a 51-35 vote Wednesday the Senate rejected a tough national-policy measure offered by Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn. It would have integrated black, inner-city pupils into suburban schools in every metropolitan area of the nation over a 10-year period.

Stennis said Nixon administration policy on school desegregation "is a sham and a pretense when it is called a uniform policy."

While strong action has been taken against Southern school districts, he said, "virtually nothing has been done anywhere outside the South."

In a 56-36 vote last year, the Senate adopted a similar Stennis national-policy amendment which was watered down heavily in conference with the House.

The stronger Ribicoff proposal went down before an unusual coalition including civil rights groups, the Nixon administration, a majority of Southern senators who voted and several liberals with big cities in their states.

Clarence Mitchell, Washington spokesman for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said the measure could have delayed integration by postponing it in some cities for 10 years.

Secretary Elliot L. Richardson of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare wrote that President Nixon felt it would be "a serious mistake" to adopt the amendment.

Southern senators opposed it by a majority of 8 to 7 with many saying it would pose unacceptable conditions for their communities.

However, some said privately they were voting for it in the hope its adoption would kill the desegregation-money bill.

House speech late today "proof positive" to back up his accusations.

Meantime he told a reporter he was not backing down. "Are you kidding?" he asked, displaying a text of his speech. "I'm throwing everything I've got at them."

Rep. Samuel L. Devine, R-Ohio, a former special agent of the FBI, got permission to address the House for an hour immediately following Boggs' remarks and was preparing a staunch defense of the agency and its veteran director.

Devine made public a letter from Hoover thanking him for his support and charging that "irresponsible charges of the nature which have been made against us in recent weeks could severely affect the FBI's efficiency" unless the charges were properly answered.

Boggs' aides privately have accused the Justice Department of leaking to the press in recent days parts of the evidence he expected to cite in support of his charge that the FBI had conducted improper surveillance of members of congress.

The apparent object, they said, was to minimize impact of Boggs' disclosures.

Martha Would Abolish Top Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Martha Mitchell, taking to the telephone again, has called for the abolition of the U.S. Supreme Court because of its ruling that busing school children to achieve racial balance is constitutional.

"We should extinguish the Supreme Court," the wife of Attorney General John N. Mitchell told UPI Wednesday. "It's absolutely asinine for those nine old men to rule against the people."

"We have no youth on the court, no southerners, no women—just nine old men. It should have been put to a vote of the general public. The majority is supposed to rule."

Mrs. Mitchell made similar remarks in a call to the Washington Star.

She emphasized she was speaking for herself. She said she "cussed out" her husband over the ruling, but he replied, "I don't run the Supreme Court."

Mrs. Mitchell also defended FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, who has been under attack by some members of Congress.

"I think it's unfortunate all these people have taken after Mr. Hoover," she said, "when he has done the greatest job in the world, including Scotland Yard. They're trying to downgrade this man to try to get him out."

She was asked if she had been in touch with Hoover recently and said, "we send each other little notes."

"I think I'll call him up," she said.

Boggs Sticks to Demand on Hoover Ouster

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Democratic Leader Hale Boggs today stuck to his demand that J. Edgar Hoover be fired.

The Louisiana Democrat on April 5 charged the 76-year-old FBI chief with adopting the surveillance tactics of Hitler's Gestapo. He told the House then the FBI had tapped telephones of House and Senate members and said "the way Mr. Hoover is running the FBI today it is no longer a free country."

Top administration officials and key Republican lawmakers demanded Boggs retract his charge or submit proof of its truth. He refused to apologize and promised to lay out in a House speech late today "proof positive" to back up his accusations.

Meantime he told a reporter he was not backing down. "Are you kidding?" he asked, displaying a text of his speech. "I'm throwing everything I've got at them."

Rep. Samuel L. Devine, R-Ohio, a former special agent of the FBI, got permission to address the House for an hour immediately following Boggs' remarks and was preparing a staunch defense of the agency and its veteran director.

Devine made public a letter from Hoover thanking him for his support and charging that "irresponsible charges of the nature which have been made against us in recent weeks could severely affect the FBI's efficiency" unless the charges were properly answered.

Boggs' aides privately have accused the Justice Department of leaking to the press in recent days parts of the evidence he expected to cite in support of his charge that the FBI had conducted improper surveillance of members of congress.

The apparent object, they said, was to minimize impact of Boggs' disclosures.

Stolen Car Involved in Crash

Trooper, Four Others Hurt

By WALTER S. CLARK

CATSKILL
A State Police lieutenant and four other persons were injured at 2:50 p.m. Wednesday as the result of a spectacular three-car collision involving a stolen car that occurred on Route 32 one half mile south of Foster Road in this Greene County township.

Two New York City boys who were riding in a stolen vehicle that caused the crash, authorities said, were facing charges of juvenile delinquency and possession of a stolen car. Top officials of Troop F State Police headquarters in Middletown took part in the investigation of the accident with officers and uniformed troopers from the Leeds substation.

Seriously injured and taken to Greene County Memorial Hospital was Lieut. A. F. Van Blaricum, 49, of 4 Valley Drive, Saugerties, zone commander of Troop F stationed at the Kingston station in Lake Katrine. He suffered multiple injuries including abrasions and lacerations of the head and body, ruptured blood vessels of the abdomen and internal injuries.

According to investigators Lieutenant Van Blaricum was southbound on Route 32 behind a car driven by Rocco J. Morabito, 60, of 1140 North Broadway, Irvington, when a northbound car driven by a 14-year-old boy and reportedly traveling at a high speed crossed over into the southbound lane, crashed into the left side of the Morabito car and then smashed into the unmarked State Police car driven by Van Blaricum who had pulled off the pavement to avoid being hit.

The boy driver, whose name is withheld because of his age, was taken to the Albany Medical Center Hospital suffering a compound fracture of the left leg, lacerations and internal injuries. A 12-year-old boy passenger in the car, was treated at the hospital here for facial lacerations and injuries of both hands.

The boys, who were riding in a car reported stolen in New York City on April 16 by the owner Hans W. Hens of 511 117th Street, Flushing, were charged with juvenile delinquency and possessing stolen property.

Boy Faces Arson Charges

TOWN OF ULSTER

Investigation of two suspicious fires that destroyed barns on the Barnett property on Hurley Avenue recently, led to the arrest Wednesday by Kingston State Police BCI officers of a 15-year-old boy who faces charges of arson.

Senior BCI Investigator Michael Lisman said the boy, who will be petitioned into Ulster County Family Court, also was questioned about other suspicious fires in Kingston and other areas.

The boy was arrested by BCI Investigator Thomas Searles following an investigation he conducted with the sheriff's office, Sergeant C. O. Bundschuh and Trooper D. J. Pitcher.

According to authorities, the boy whose name is withheld because of his age, is accused of setting fire to a large barn on the Barnett property on the night of April 19. He also is charged with starting fire that swept another barn on the same farm late in March.

Ganter New Headmaster

Ulster Academy Fills Post

By JEAN F. DOLAN

KINGSTON

A new headmaster has been appointed for Ulster Academy. He is William G. Ganter Jr., former assistant director of the Stockbridge School.

He will replace Raymond A. Nelson, first headmaster of the independent secondary school, who is leaving at the end of the current school year to assume the post of headmaster at Pike School, Andover, Mass.

A native of Lynn, Mass., the 41-year-old Ganter was educated in Massachusetts and Michigan. He completed undergraduate and graduate work in the classics at Boston University and later taught and studied at the University of California's far eastern division.

Ganter taught Latin at Hebron Academy for eight years and taught Latin and Greek in Colorado before becoming chairman of the classics department at Cheshire Academy, Connecticut. For the past four years he has been assistant director of the Stockbridge School as well as its acting director during the sabbatical of Hans K. Maeder. During the Korean Conflict, Ganter served as an artillery officer.

Ganter has worked as teacher and administrator in independent secondary schools because he believes the secondary school is the best place to instruct and motivate young people.

He and his wife, the former Lissa Marshall of Winchester, Mass., and their four children will be moving to Ulster County in the near future.

Speno Benefits--- Move to Amend Bill

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A group of Long Island state legislators has decided to amend the bill that would have nearly tripled the death benefits for the widow of the late Republican Sen. Edward J. Speno.

Assemblyman Joseph M. Margiotta said Wednesday that the lawmakers' intention was to give Mrs. Speno the senator's full salary and expenses for this year.

Margiotta added that the drafters of the bill added three words—"for all purposes"—that caused the death benefits to increase.

That is, Speno was given credit for state service beyond the actual number of years he served in the Senate. He first was elected in 1954 and died in February.

As the bill was written originally, Mrs. Speno would have received $214,800 in death benefits.

That amount would have resulted from a 1969 law that permits legislators to count up to three years of military service as state service for pension purposes.

In Speno's case, he would have been credited with a total of 20 years of state service altogether—17 as a senator and 3 in the armed forces.

Without the death-benefit bill that had been submitted by the senator's legislative colleagues from Nassau County after his death, Speno would have fallen short of the 20-year retirement plan. His widow thus would have been entitled to $79,515.

Margiotta said the exact amount of death benefits would be decided by the State Retirement System. Meanwhile, the amended legislation will provide Mrs. Speno only with the balance of his annual compensation for the 1971 session, Margiotta added.

That balance was reported to be $19,500.

Onteora--Some Salaries Up

BOICEVILLE/fect higher salaries. Under the "The budget has gone up due to many factors including higher salaries and employee benefits, increased transportation costs, repair and replacement costs, an enrollment increase and the purchase of classrooms for special education classes."

So saying the Board of Education of Onteora Central Schools brought in a proposed budget for 1971-72 of $5,117,931 at a public hearing here Wednesday night.

The figure represents an increase of $458,097 over the 1970-71 budget which was $4,637,134. The budget does indeed re-with the slightly lower figure of $1,924,446 last year.

Employe benefits show a rise in all categories, including teachers' retirement, non-teaching employees' retirement, social security payments and employee health insurance. Total employee benefits last year were only $614,010, while this year approval is being asked for $662,965.

Transportation, as expected, has soared again. Always a major item and always climbing, the new budget calls for $438,666 in expenditures, the biggest item of which is transportation by contract in the amount of $315,517. Under transportation, the board is also asking voters to approve purchase of buses and station wagons in the amount of $29,700.

The enrollment increase mentioned by the board as being partially responsible for this year's upped budget is based on projections that an increase of 100 students is anticipated at the high school level, requiring the hiring of several additional teachers.

And, for the first time, Onteora plans to utilize portable classrooms — to relieve overcrowded conditions at the Bennett School. These were chosen, says the board, to give Onteora the best possible facilities at minimum cost.

How voters will respond to the budget will become evident when they go to the polls on May 5 to lend their approval or show their disapproval. Included on the ballot that day will be the budget; a referendum question concerning sale of school-owned property in West Hurley to the Town of West Hurley, and the filing of a vacant seat on the school board.

The only one of the three ballot propositions that promises to be a shoo-in as of now in the trustee seat, since only incumbent Charles H. Weidner IV has filed to succeed himself, will have no opposition.

Woodstock Town Board

Two New Controversial Subjects

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

WOODSTOCK Woodstockers turned out for the art colony's monthly Town Board meeting Tuesday night expecting at least some controversy to surface over the election or appointment of assessors. By meeting's end, however, two additional controversial subjects came up for discussion.

A petition signed by some 50 residents in the John Joy and Purdy Hollow Roads area of Zena touched off the first frictional development of the session. The petition protested a plan by the Zena Recreational Association to establish a subscription-type club on 50 acres of land in Zena off Purdy Hollow Road.

Late last winter, when the same Association announced plans for a swimming pool, clubhouse, parking lot and other recreational facilities on a site along Van De Bogart Road in Zena, it abandoned the project because of the antagonism of residents in that area.

Forgetting the Van De Bogart acreage, it optioned the Purdy Hollow property with the same intentions. Hollow area residents are no more amenable to the club than were the first group encountered; refer to it as a "ruse"—since it will, they say, have a limited and private membership; will not be able to cater to the recreational needs of the entire township. They also denounce the invasion and 'defilement' of what is now woodland frequented by deer and other wildlife by roads, cars, blacktop and pools; say it would destroy their neighborhood.

There was some sympathy for the ecology-minded petitioners at the board meeting and, ironically, some of it came from members of the Association (many of whom belong to the Zena Area Homeowners Civic Association). Some of them indicated that while the Van De Bogart site would have been excellent, the Purdy Hollow acreage is "too far removed" from their own homes.

The Town Board took the position that the matter would have to be resolved without its interference, noting it is in no position to take a stand, voice an opinion, or do anything official in solving a problem that is basically a private one.

At an "unofficial" public hearing following the meeting, the floor was thrown open for discussion on the advisability of retaining Woodstock's present practice of electing three assessors, or switching to the single assessor system.

Speaking for the Woodstock Township Taxpayers Association, president Walter Schulman strongly urged a referendum on the matter, allowing voters to decide the issue by ballot. Attorney Schulman, giving his "legal version" of the law, put his organization on record for retention of the town's present Board of Assessors; urged adoption of a local law by the Town Board before April 30 to make a referendum mandatory.

Just as staunchly verbal in their support of the Assessment Improvement Bill passed last year in Albany (permitting town boards to appoint one assessor for a six year term) were spokesmen for the Democratic Party, the Political Action arm of the Woodstock Independent Party, the Zena Area Homeowners Civic Association, and all three of Woodstock's present elected assessors, who will be out of a job if the old system is not retained.

Those lined up in favor of the new law, which would assure a "qualified" assessor replacing men of minimal qualifications, noted that every professional assessors association on the state, county and local level has endorsed the "one man" system.

When present assessors Irwin Goldstein, William Kronenberg and George Eichler each took the floor in turn to urge their own replacement by a professional, more than a few members of the audience seemed convinced that "these are the men who know and we ought to take their advice."

That all did not agree, however, was apparent when WTTA's Schulman questioned why three men "who worked so hard to get elected, were now declaring themselves incompetent."

This brought jeers from all parts of the room, but some of those jeering later admitted they favored a referendum.

An interesting sidelight to the discussion involved the denial of the floor to George Majestic, former Town of Gardiner supervisor. As a non-resident, he was not allowed to speak. Among those opposing his right to enter the discussion was Schulman, although Majestic would have supported Schulman's views.

The board reserved decision on the new assessor law and, unless it moves to pass a local law by April 30 — making a referendum mandatory — the deadline for setting a special election will have passed and Woodstock will automatically go to the one assessor plan.

With time already so short, many wonder if it would be possible to give enough public notice should the board elect to pass a local law. Others felt the board would prefer to avoid a referendum; exert its state-granted "right" to appoint its own man. Still others, mostly party workers, view with dismay the work that would be involved in setting up a special election by July 1.

Also discussed at the meeting was the "crying need" to relieve the present traffic situation in Woodstock. The local Chamber of Commerce, in a letter to the board, urged traffic control and the creation of new off-street parking areas.

For many months, Woodstock's firemen and police have proposed one-side-of-the-street parking on main thoroughfares, but merchants (including those in the C of C) have shown their disfavor. The Chamber now admits that "partial one-side-of-the-street parking probably is a partial answer," but only in the most congested areas. Its members urge instead (since cars displaced by that system would have to go elsewhere and create new bottlenecks) off-street parking lots at both the eastern and western ends of the village.

Supervisor Milton Houst says the board is now working with the National Bank of Orange and Ulster Counties for use and development of land owned by the bank adjacent to its present parking lot (an area that would provide three times the present parking facilities). He says there is also a possibility of some arrangement with local businessman Victor Basil, who owns land near the Post Office at the other end of town that could be converted to a parking

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, APRIL 22, 1971

When Vietnam War Ends

In his nationally televised speech last week, President Nixon talked of ending "American involvement" in Vietnam 12 times. He did not define the term exactly. Defense Secretary Melvin Laird came close to a definition this week in outlining a military corollary to the Nixon Doctrine for Asia.

Laird confirmed that the American ground combat role would end this summer, but that some American troops would be used in security roles, to protect American logistic support troops, and air and naval units.

The American air and naval presence will remain in Southeast Asia during the 1970s to bolster Asian allied forces and maintain a policy of "realistic deterrence" after American ground troops have been withdrawn.

In formulating a strategy of realistic deterrence, the United States balances the fiscal and manpower realities that prevail at home against the strategic realities of the Soviet Union—and, in the 1980s, Communist China.

So that while the fighting should be over for American combat troops by mid-summer, there will be an American naval and air presence in Southeast Asia indefinitely, not to provoke war, but to prevent war.

This is the same kind of American naval and air presence maintained in the Mediterranean, to bolster our allies there—Italy, Greece, Turkey and Israel. It warns would-be aggressors that they would have to deal with the United States should they attack one of our allies, and in that way an attack is prevented, whereas an aggressor would be tempted to attack if he thought one of our allies would be an easy mark alone.

Laird's definition of President Nixon's plan to end American involvement in Southeast Asia may be summarized, as he did, in this expression, "Military assistance, yes; manpower, no." The day of committing massive manpower to that part of the world is over. The fighting will be turned over to the South Vietnamese by mid-summer. That is definite.

Don't Underrate the Dollar

Chase Manhattan of New York, one of the three largest banks in the nation, has been concerned over charges abroad that Washington has been pursuing a balance of payments policy of "benign neglect" which has weakened the value of the dollar in the international money markets this year. Rejecting this thesis, Chase Manhattan placed the blame for foreign weakening to factors outside this country.

The record accumulations of dollars by the major central banks of Europe and Japan in the last few weeks were primarily the result of efforts by these countries to maintain tight money, while in the United States the Federal Reserve was pursuing a policy of moderate monetary ease. This Chase Manhattan analysis formed the basis of the bank's suggestion for coordinating the monetary policies of the principal financial powers, instead of disparaging the dollar.

The dollar problem is a world problem and is being increasingly recognized as such. Dollars are more available in this country because Federal Reserve credit has expanded rapidly and interest has been cut. The dollar is strong precisely because it has been made more abundant and business is reacting by more borrowing.

Science Not Keeping Pace?

We are all suffering from "future shock," or so a currently popular thesis holds. Technology is advancing so much more rapidly than our ability to adapt to the changes it brings that society is in a state of neurosis.

It may be just the opposite, says one man—at least in one field, the field of environmental pollution.

Public opposition to pollution has progressed considerably faster in recent years than technology, says Lee Loevinger, assistant attorney general in the Kennedy administration.

Take atomic energy. Not only have technology and industry failed to produce a controlled fusion reactor to date, he notes, but of about 100 applications to the Atomic Energy Commission for authority to construct commercial nuclear power plants, only one has been for a "clean" breeder reactor, the kind we are going to need. And the one breeder reactor built has been plagued by accidents and has operated poorly.

"Perhaps the malaise that we sense in much contemporary life arises not from the difficulty public attitudes have in keeping pace with the advances of science and technology," Loevinger suggests, "but from the inability of science and technology to fulfill the demands of advancing public attitudes."

"In some fields our problems may not be future shock but technological lag."

The decisive defeat of a bill, that would have liberalized Maryland's law on abortions, reverses a trend that has been noted in several states recently. The law would have made abortion a matter of decision solely for a woman and her doctor—a green light, for any slight reason.

"Don't Worry, This May Be the Last Time You'll Be in This Position!"

David Lawrence Says President Nixon Hasn't Prejudged Lieut. Calley

WASHINGTON — The widest publicity was given to the allegation of Capt. Aubrey M. Daniel III, prosecutor in the Calley case, that President Nixon, by injecting himself into the review process, had undermined the morale of the armed services. Unfortunately many people have not learned the President's answer to this charge, which was given succinctly in his radio interview on April 16.

The fact that the President allowed Lieutenant Calley to be confined to his quarters rather than be sent to prison and decided, as Commander in Chief, to exercise final review of the case was immediately regarded by some people to indicate that the President is partial to Calley and believes he should have been acquitted. No inference of that kind is justified. Mr. Nixon praised the military records of the six members of the jury and stressed that he respects those who served on it. The President explained his participation as follows:

"I acted as I did because one of my capacities is Commander in Chief of the armed forces. There was enormous interest in this case, concern expressed throughout the nation with regard to that decision, going far beyond the innocence or guilt of Lieutenant Calley with regard to the charges. I felt under the circumstances I should take two steps that I think are completely consistent with upholding the judicial process of the armed forces.

"One, it seemed to me that if in civilian cases where an individual is charged with a crime, he cannot get out on bail — It seemed to me that the least that could be done would be to say that Lieutenant Calley, pending the time that an appeal made his sentence final, should not be sent to Leavenworth Prison, but should be confined to his quarters. I think that was the right decision to make about that man at that time.

"The second point had to do with my decision that I announced when I said that I, as President and as Commander in Chief, would exercise the authority which I had in such cases to review the case, that I would not pass the buck to a commission. I would not pass it to the Secretary of the Army. But in this case, because of the great public interest in the case and because it went beyond simply the innocence or guilt of this one man, that I would review the case personally before final sentence was passed."

Mr. Nixon thinks it is his responsibility to do what he can within the law to quiet the fears of the people. Many millions of them have manifested a deep interest in the result of the trial and the sentence imposed, and want to be sure the case is given a full and impartial review. The President believes the public generally has been satisfied after learning that he will make the final decision. Mr. Nixon said that there also were other factors concerned. He added:

"In addition to the innocence or guilt of Lieutenant Calley with regard to the specific charges involved, there is the problem of trials for war crimes generally, and there is, of course, debate with regard to what should happen in those trials. There are many other cases — not many, several other cases — like this. Some have already been decided. Some are still to be decided.

"It seemed to me under the circumstances that a presidential statement at the highest level should be made once this case is completed, should be made setting the whole thing into perspective and without infringing upon his rights, a decision that would let the American people know and the world know why such a prosecution did take place and why it was upheld or why it was not upheld. I, of course will not prejudice it at this time before it goes through the judicial process."

There is not the slightest reason for jumping to the conclusion that the President has already made up his mind what he will do about the verdict and the sentence in the Calley case. What he desires is to examine all the different episodes dealing with the same type of incident during war. This is why no basis exists for concluding that the President has prejudged Lieutenant Calley in any way. When he actually has reviewed the evidence and the arguments on both sides — after the normal judicial process — Mr. Nixon will make his decision.

The First Ecology Movement

Remember Arbor Day? You know, the last Friday in April when your teacher took you to the playground or the local park and your class planted a tree.

You were probably participating in the first ecology movement.

The tree planting idea originated in Nebraska, where it was first observed on April 10, 1872. It started with J. Sterling Morton, then a member of the Nebraska board of agriculture and later U.S. secretary of agriculture. The idea grew and the celebration was turned over to the schools about 1882.

Teachers took advantage of the exercise in tree planting to teach the importance of forestry and of the planting of seedlings to reforest otherwise waste lands.

Today the "save-the-environment" theme is putting new life into the occasion. New York City schools, for example, have been leaving it pretty much up to the individual schools to "plant trees and things where there is a little plot." But this year, "we will probably do more because of the ecology movement," says a spokesman for Manhattan's District One.

Americans in both the city and country, are beginning to realize just how valuable a tree is.

"Everybody loves the healthy tree for its sheer beauty. And trees are essential — particularly healthy young growing trees — because they recycle the carbon dioxide in our atmosphere into oxygen; they improve the soil; they guard against erosion," says George H. Weyerhaeuser, president of Weyerhaeuser Company, one of the largest tree nurseries in the world.

"But the tree is also a versatile and renewable resource that helps to underpin our entire economy," he continues. "It yields lumber, plywood and composition materials essential to provide adequate housing for millions of Americans. And it yields the fiber for paper and other products necessary to the functioning of modern civilization."

Saving and replanting trees is not only necessary to keep the country green, but also to keep the country going.

Even in the city, trees have special uses, according to Edward P. Cliff, chief of the U.S. Forestry Service.

"Trees in the city are being increasingly recognized as a vital asset in soil and water conservation and in upgrading the quality of the whole environment. The potential benefits are many — cooking shade, better air to breathe, less street noise, protection from winds, habitat for birds and wildlife, a pleasant and serene environment and a increase in natural beauty," he says.

Arbor day is a simple idea, but think of the shadeless sidewalks and barren hillsides if school children hadn't planted trees.

Chart on '72 Democratic Race; Humphrey's Gains Are Visible

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The common thing these days is to say that Sen. Edmund Muskie has slipped some in the Democratic presidential race. Evidence supports the contention. But everything is relative and his rivals are not all that much better off.

There is real improvement (as indicated by polls and other signs) in the status of the 1968 nominee, Sen. Hubert Humphrey. Yet right now his prospects probably are being overstated.

The only declared candidate, Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, is felt by experts who scan the country to be stuck in dead left, and not widening his base of support as he needs to do.

Sen. Harold Hughes of Iowa, the supposed favorite of some strong liberals, has disappointed listeners in several recent outings. His impressive voice has not infused special life into utterances some appraisers deem quite pedestrian.

Every day provides fresh testimony to Sen. Birch Bayh's energies as a traveler, and his mastery of many political skills. But his name still is not registered, and some Californians who like him are now telling others what they are believed to have told him in January: Show something by summer, or it's goodbye.

Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington plainly has the bug. At a recent dinner given by Arthur Krim, a leading Democratic money man, Jackson arrived early and planted himself where he would not miss a body, but not many party leaders see Jackson getting far.

Some of these same people no longer take lightly the candidacy of Rep. Wilbur Mills, powerful chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee. Nobody is saying that an Arkansas congressman could be nominated. Some top men argue, though, that Mills could be a focal point in a southern Democratic holding action aimed at enlarging the South's bargaining position on both the nominee and the platform.

Reports are that Mills' April 7-8 speechmaking visit to Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth was a smash. Even as he tries his wings this way, Mills is known to be playing a key behind-scenes part in new moves to draw together Democratic legislators, governors and mayors — under the leadership of National Chairman Lawrence O'Brien.

Those checking the South say party leaders there have been jumping all around, cooling somewhat in their early interest in Muskie, talking up Jackson awhile, then Humphrey, now Mills.

Any coalescing among southerners behind Mills obviously would hurt the other contenders who have some acceptance in the region, especially the more viable Muskie and Humphrey.

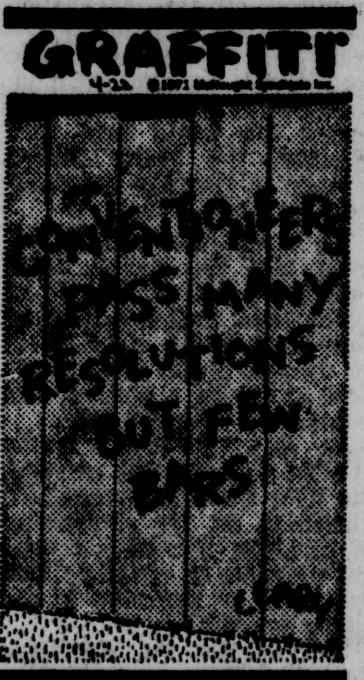

To gauge Humphrey in actuality today is not easy. His gains are visible. His eager activity is widely reported. But some old party hands are waving the caution flag.

Says one: "Hubert has been making all the wrong moves since he came back to Washington. He's into everything. And he's gone with the pack."

In this man's view, Humphrey's advantage lay in keeping separate and waiting for people to turn to him if and when others faltered. "Before you know it," he adds, "he'll be getting into 10 primaries."

Humphrey himself, however, seems to doubt he could get another nomination without going the primary route he avoided in 1968. And, because he is keeping his options open, he is said to be asking some big party contributors to "take it easy," meaning to hold their money off from Muskie and others until he has made up his mind.

So, the Humphrey thing is real enough. But it needs to be judged with care. In New York, for instance, Hubert is not exactly bowling anybody over. And there is that view, arguable of course, that he is blowing his strength in characteristic over-eagerness.

Henry J. Taylor Says Nixon Faces Formidable Task

LBJ intimate John B. Connally, President Nixon's Secretary of the Treasury, states what he considers President Johnson's worst mistake.

"What undid LBJ was his being unable to break the habit of fibbing about little things, so that he came to be disbelieved on big ones, too," said Mr. Connally.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers, in turn, states that "no foreign policy is worth while unless you can get the mass support of the American people."

Mr. Nixon couples these statements as indivisible in his own success as President. By common consent, President Johnson's drop in popularity was chiefly due to three things: (1) The so-called credibility gap by which no matter what Mr. Johnson said increasing millions simply refused to believe him, although moments come when about all a President has to go on is to be believed; (2) the future of President Johnson's domestic programs to insure tranquility; (3) the failure of his foreign policy to bring peace.

President Nixon, on taking over, set as the chief goals for his first term a series of specifics. These included "to have ended the involvement in a war . . . turned around the escalating crime rate . . . stopped the inflation and moved the country onto a sound basis for a better prosperity . . . made progress toward reforming the institutions of government."

Mr. Nixon, practicing a "low profile" approach, is trying to extricate us from the Far East war without worldwide recognition of our ghastly defeat or disgraceful abandonment of our Asiatic commitments.

In this the President re-emphasizes his first annual report on foreign policy of February 18, 1970: "We are not involved in the world because we have commitments; we have commitments because we are involved in the world. Our interests must shape our commitments, rather than the other way around."

Misunderstood (or distorted) or not, Mr. Nixon's policy in Vietnam is to hope that South Vietnam can erect a government and military structure strong enough to protect itself against disaster.

The fundamental weakness in our Paris truce-talk position is that we outlast the enemy in Vietnam in this process by remaining there indefinitely and nevertheless we cannot outfight him.

Hanoi hopes for the reverse of our hope and, accordingly, wants to postpone any settlement whatever until it has had at least a try at collapsing the Saigon structure we and the South Vietnam government hope to build.

The word "Vietnamization" means that U.S. hope. Thus it means Mr. Nixon's basic policy, and is not to be confused with the Cambodian incursion. Mr. Nixon inherited from President Johnson a force of 538,500 Americans in Vietnam. Keeping his promises, although scarcely thanked for it, the bringing-home has been, and continues, enormous. The Cambodian incursion was a tactical necessity to protect this withdrawal. In contrast, the Laos action put to the test the absolute keystone of the Nixon policy.

There can be no sound policy outside realities and this policy absolutely depends on the real success of "Vietnamization," to whatever degree Saigon failed in its Laos test performance, so does our whole Vietnam doctrine.

Mr. Nixon is at the same time reducing our worldwide military presence and yet trying to remain strategically present in a world which is in its usual state of greed and disorder, confusion and apathy.

With both houses of Congress against him, every Senate and House committee chairmanship held by the opposition, Mr. Nixon is trying to achieve all that on the foreign and domestic fronts while increasing the faith in our country in a deeply questioning American society.

This is a formidable task. Moreover, it must be achieved in Washington, where politics is the king of the mountain — a place someone described as where they cut your throat on one side so that your friends can't see you bleeding to death.

But, at 58, Congressman-Senator-eight-years-Vice President - President Nixon has known Washington a full 29 years. Few men have been so long exposed to that place, are as knowing about it, or conditioned for it. The strain is not his roadblock.

Mr. Nixon's basic roadblock is the required "mass support of the American people," for he is faced now by a very consequential problem: the polls. And that require another article.

Rosendale Water Supply

April 18, 1971
Editor, The Freeman:
The recent election campaign in the village of Rosendale left one important issue unresolved in my mind, and since the eventual outcome of the election was decided by a small majority, I believe there are other residents of this village who share my dilemma. The issue that I speak of is the village water supply or lack of the same.

Since both slates of candidates produced what appeared to be supportive evidence to bolster the claim that there was or was not an adequate source of water contained in the Snyder Mine, I think it is incumbent upon the victors of the election and the entire village board to satisfactorily answer the following questions:

If the Republican Conservative claim that the Snyder Mine is "a virtually worthless water source" is in fact the truth, could you please account for this fact? During the years of 1967 and 1968, when this mine was first utilized, there were no restrictions imposed on the residents of the village regarding the use of water and no shortage or water occurred?

If the Republican Conservative claim that the village use of the Snyder Mine is depleting the Tillson Estate water supply is accurate, will same person and be within your income. While the Cadillac would certainly be superior, its purchase on a limited income could only be justified if there was no other alternative. The $1,000,000 project outlined by Laberge would no doubt be an excellent water system. However, gentlemen, do we absolutely not have an alternative in the form of the Snyder Mine?

In conclusion, since I am the chairman of the Democratic Party in the Town of Rosendale, I realize that this letter can and probably will be construed as politically motivated. I implore this board therefore, to put aside its political affiliations and to accept this letter in the good faith in which it is written, my only motive being a sincere interest in the Village of Rosendale.

Sincerely,
BARBARA De STEFANO

America at Crossroads

April 17, 1971
Editor, The Freeman:

Is justice served by punishing one man, Lt. Wm. L. Calley Jr. for an act committed in a war between nations?

America is at the crossroads. It could do much good for humanity's sake were we to take the following steps:

Restore full freedom and military honor and pay to Lieutenant William L. Calley Jr. with the public apology due him.

Demand members of Congress and President Nixon to exert every effort for the return of our prisoners of war.

Settle an undeclared war at a peace table and return our servicemen from Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, etc. immediately.

Instant use of our human resources in making and restoring America and other parts of the world.

Will you take the time to ask your friends, neighbors, clubs, churches, to write, telephone or wire without delay to President Richard M. Nixon and members of Congress, Washington, D.C. And on behalf of our prisoners of war, won't you also write for their release?

To: President Tom Duc Thang, Democratic Republic of Vietnam, Hanoi, c/o American Red Cross

Help our P.O.W.'s, Box 16000, Washington, D.C. 20013.

Let's all keep writing, working, praying, until victory is achieved.

Drug Abuse Prevention

April 19, 1971
Editor, The Freeman

I hate to say it, but there's something genuinely disheartening about the editorial titled "Drug Abuse Prevention" in last Saturday's "Freeman."

Granted, drug abuse is a serious issue, and often tragic as well in many individual instances. And granted also that an intelligent and creative solution to the problem is urgently needed. But is this what is offered in a method that tries through Madison Avenue hard-sell techniques to stigmatize marijuana smokers as "social lepers"? Encouraging their peers to ridicule "potheads" and thus causing the latter to feel shame and humiliation sounds counterproductive to me, since many marijuana users are already socially isolated and emotionally vulnerable. To practice persuasion techniques which are at bottom nothing more or less than forms of coercion and intimidation is morally reprehensible, especially when these psychological attacks are aimed at people who are already casualties of their society.

Perhaps what would be more appropriate would be a campaign to encourage all Americans to begin asking themselves the hard questions this nation has put off till now. For example, What has happened to our society that it drives millions of its citizens into drug addiction and alcoholism? What can we offer to our children that is more meaningful than a standardized indoctrination in mindless conformity, obsessive consumerism, and blind patriotism? In a country where the majority of the great middle class distracts itself with "Hee Haw," John Wayne films and hot pants while our bomber-wreck havoc in Southeast Asia perhaps it is not so surprising that many younger Americans choose a suicidal course into drug use. It probably makes more sense to them.

Respectfully,
ROBERT BURG

Routine Reports Heard During Vols' Meeting

WALLKILL Deputy County Fire Coordinator Wesley Clark said he had learned that all fire training sessions will be canceled for the year due to state budget cuts. His report of calls serviced by County Mutual Aid Headquarters noted 1,121 calls; 67 fires; A. H. Wicks Company; Elwin Geelan of Pioneer Engine Co., Ellenville and Joseph Nodich of Wallkill Fire Department Secretary Fred Harder reported that 36 fire companies were represented by about 150 members and delegates. Raymond Haas, assistant chief of Wallkill welcomed the delegates.

Clark also asked all companies to send in the names of their new officers, especially chiefs, with phone numbers. They should be sent to the Mutual Aid Control Center as soon as possible.

It was announced that Hudson Valley Vols convention will be held in Beacon June 17-19.

The delegates present approved the airing of a program over WGHQ on Sundays 1:30 to 1:45 on firemanic activities.

New members accepted included Richard S. Jones of A. H. Wicks Company; Elwin Geelan of Pioneer Engine Co., Ellenville and Joseph Nodich of Wallkill Fire Department Secretary Fred Harder reported that 36 fire companies were represented by about 150 members and delegates. Raymond Haas, assistant chief of Wallkill welcomed the delegates.

Clark also asked all companies to send in the names of their new officers, especially chiefs, with phone numbers. They should be sent to the Mutual Aid Control Center as soon as possible.

The Bar Mitzvah of Roy Berger, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Berger, will be celebrated on Sunday 10:30 a.m. at the synagogue. As Sunday is the Roosh Chodesh, the beginning of the new month, the Torah is read, and the Bar Mitzvah will perform the reading. He will also chant the Musaf Service, and will receive the religious gifts of the Sisterhood, the Talmud Torah, the USY and the Bar Mitzvah certificate of the congregation. Rabbi Schectman will conduct the Bar Mitzvah ceremony, and will present the lesson to the Bar Mitzvah.

The USY, the youth group of the congregation, will meet Sunday evening for a regular meeting and social program.

The Talmud Torah of Kingston will meet this week on regular schedule.

Following services, the congregation is invited to attend the Oneg Shabbat, sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Larry Moss in honor of their son, Robert, who will become a Bar Mitzvah on Saturday morning.

The annual meeting of the congregation will be held on Friday evening, April 30, at 8 p.m. following Sabbath services, beginning at 7:30 p.m. All congregants are urged to attend.

Temple Emanuel

Sabbath evening services will be held at Temple Emanuel, 243 Albany Avenue, Friday, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn will conduct services, assisted by Dr. John Park. Rabbi Eichhorn will lead a discussion on the subject Why Marriages Fail. The public is welcome to attend.

During the services, the memories of the following persons will be invoked: Joseph Block, Harris Brown, Bertha Bauman, Dr. Harold Mandell, Rachel Samter, Mae Frohman, Herman Svirsky, Morris Samter, Wolf Oppenheimer.

Following services, the congregation is invited to attend the Oneg Shabbat, sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Larry Moss in honor of their son, Robert, who will become a Bar Mitzvah on Saturday morning.

Duvalier Dies, Was Lifetime Head of Haiti

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (UPI)—Francois "Papa Doc" Duvalier, lifetime president of Haiti, died Wednesday night after a three months illness, the government radio announced today. He was 64.

The radio announcement said Duvalier's 20-year-old son, Jean-Claude, would succeed the gray-haired dictator who had led the black republic since 1957.

Although it has long been said that Duvalier's death could bring a bloody revolution, the situation in Port-Au-Prince was "the same as usual," according to U.S. Embassy spokesman Robert Jordan.

The radio announcement of Duvalier's death was made at 6 a.m. EST. It said the president died at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

In announcing Jean-Claude's succession, a new list of cabinet members was also made known. These included Luckner Cambronne, who is the new minister of interior in charge of police and defense.

In another significant appointment, Adrian Ramond was named minister of foreign affairs.

Truck Driver Escapes Injury

MILTON A 27-year-old truck driver narrowly escaped serious injury and possible death at 5:40 a.m. today when the tractor-trailer he was driving jack-knifed on Route 9W north of the traffic light.

Highland State Police reported Joseph Matthews of 14 Mulberry Street, New Paltz, was southbound when the tractor-trailer jack-knifed after a tire on a right wheel blew out. The tractor literally "chewed" the tractor to pieces, but the operator walked away "without a scratch," troopers reported.

Troopers Frank Krasinski and H. R. McKieghan investigated.

DIED

DOUGHERTY—William John, on Wednesday April 21, 1971, of 31 Jarrold Street; beloved husband of Helen Kennedy Dougherty; father of William J. Michael E., Daniel J., Diane L. and Helen K. Dougherty; son of Marie Elizabeth Shieferdecker Dougherty and the late Daniel Joseph Dougherty; brother of Cornelius E. Dougherty, Daniel J. Dougherty, Mrs. Frederick (Anna Elizabeth) Martin and Mrs. Joseph (Marie Martha) Munaf.

Funeral services will be held from the Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 27 Smith Avenue, Saturday, April 24, at 9:30 o'clock, thence to the Immaculate Conception Church where a Mass of the Resurrection will be offered at 10 a.m. for the repose of his soul. Interment in the Long Island National Cemetery, Farmingdale, L. I., Monday morning at the convenience of the family. Friends will be received Thursday 7 to 9 and Friday 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Memorial

In loving memory of Albert Thomas (Pat) Snyder, who passed away April 22, 1962. Not dead, but passed beyond. The mist that binds us here, into the newer, larger life, Of that unclouded sphere.

WIFE,

SON AND DAUGHTER

Memorial

In Loving Memory of our infant daughter, Diane Walker, who passed away seven years ago today, April 22, 1964. The Lord gave us no time with you He took you right away. The love we couldn't give you Deep in our hearts will stay.

MOMMY AND DADDY

Card of Thanks

I would like to take this opportunity to thank my many friends, who sent me gifts and cards while I was in the Benedictine Hospital. Especially the many nurses who were so very nice to me. I cherish all of these remembrances.

Best Foot ForwardSaugerties Cleanup, Recycling Plan*SAUGERTIES

The Best Foot Forward program, combining the vital features of spring cleanup and collection of recycling materials to be conducted Saturday in the Town of Saugerties, needs public cooperation and participation to bring about its success.

The public can cooperate by saving aluminum tins and bottles in plastic or cardboard containers and bundled and tied newspapers and magazines to be collected for recycling. Those who have pickups may notify the Town Clerk's Office at the Town Hall or Mrs. Duane Allen and Mrs. William Warner, both of Village Drive.

Those residents who have trucks are also needed to aid in the drive. In addition to various youth organizations who have volunteered any citizen, who would like to help in the highway cleanup program may report at the Saugerties High School parking lot Saturday at 9 a.m.

Youth groups participating include Singout Saugerties, Young Marines, Little League, CYO, three Boy Scout Troops and Youth Council members. Arthur and Albert Sperl, local refuse collectors, have offered the use of their equipment.

The Best Foot Forward campaign is sponsored by Saugerties Jaycees, who are also providing leadership and manpower.

Jerry Bone, head of the Jaycees Ecology Committee said this will be a test program and depending on the cooperation of the public will be continued on a regular basis.

Simmons Plaza Merchants Form Association, Elect

NEW PALTZ — Announcement of the formation of The Simmons Plaza Merchants Association, an organization consisting of store owners of Simmons Plaza in New Paltz, was made recently. Members of the association, Bertone's Cold Cut Center, Plaza Cinema, Rite Aid, Mila Fab, and the Plaza Perfect Touch, are cited as their purpose, "to make shopping in the Plaza a pleasure for the consumer," include Town Plaza Liquor, Bar, Roundout National Bank, Phillips Jewelers, Plaza Diner, The Village Closet, Victory Market, Benson's II, One Hour Martinizing, American Hardware Store, Book and Record, Bertone's Cold Cut Center, Plaza Cinema, Rite Aid, Mila Fab, and the Plaza Perfect Touch. Officers elected at the group's first official meeting in early April were: Nick Campus, president; Town Plaza Liquor; Mel Goldstein, vice president; Barbers: Dottie Phillips, secretary; Phillips Jewelers, and Richard Walraven, treasurer, Roundout National Bank.

Among the first items of business was to forward a letter to the manager of the Plaza in White Plains describing "the poor condition" of the parking lot. The merchants requested that the pot holes be filled, new parking lanes be painted, the lot and undeveloped areas cleaned and flowers and shrubs planted.

A promotion committee was also formed to investigate future events for the Plaza, including sidewalk sales and flea markets.

Reid Elected Trustee At Paltz Savings Bank

NEW PALTZ — Robert Reid Jr. has been elected to the Board of Trustees of the New Paltz Savings Bank, it was announced by bank president Anthony Costa recently.

Reid is president of Reid's Heating Service on Terwilliger Lane in New Paltz. He is a director of the Hudson Valley Oil Dealer's Association and a member of the Empire State Petroleum Association and the National Oil Heat Council.

In announcing Reid's election to the Board of Trustees, Costa termed the life-long New Paltz resident, "an outstanding citizen of this community." Costa added, "He is a strong leader dedicated to progress and his presence on our board will contribute greatly to the continued success of New Paltz Savings as we begin our second 'century of interest' to this area."

A graduate of the New Paltz school system, Reid received his B.A. degree in economics from Union College. He served in the U.S. Navy as a naval aviator.

Active in community affairs, Reid has served on the New Paltz Central School's Board of Education since 1961, and was president of the board from 1965-68. In 1969, he was named to the Board of Directors of Smiley Brothers, Inc.

Reid is a charter member of the Highland-New Paltz Rotary Club and the New Paltz Fire Department and is director and treasurer of the Jamison Memorial Foundation. He is a member of the Reformed Church of New Paltz and has held many positions of leadership and responsibility in the local church government.

Reid and his wife Mary reside at 11 North Chestnut Street.

Two Promotions, One Appointment

KINGSTON — Ear F. Wheeler, director of the IBM Kingston Laboratory, has announced the promotions of two men to senior programmers.

In addition, a new manager of Field Engineering Technical Operations has been named at IBM Kingston.

David J. Cartmell of Saugerties has been promoted to senior programmer in Information Display System Programming. Jerry M. Ettinger, Advanced Display Programming Development manager, has been named a senior programmer.

William T. Dreyer of Woodstock was named manager of Field Engineering Technical Operations.

Cartmell joined IBM at Kingston in April, 1962, as a senior associate programmer. He was promoted to staff programmer in September, 1963, and to project programmer in May, 1964. From September, 1964, to August, 1968, he worked in programming development for the airlines industry in Hyde Park and White Plains. He was promoted to development programmer in July, 1967.

Ettinger joined IBM in Poughkeepsie as a junior programmer in July, 1962. Two years later he transferred to Kingston as an associate programmer and was promoted to senior associate programmer in June, 1965.

Ettinger was promoted to staff programmer in March, 1967, project programmer in August, 1967, and promoted to development programmer in Display Programming Development in July, 1968.

In his new position, Dreyer represents IBM Field Engineering Division at Kingston in all matters pertaining to IBM products developed and manufactured at Kingston.

Dreyer joined IBM in April, 1967, as a customer engineer in Denver, Colo., and transferred to the Poughkeepsie plant in 1963 as a Field Engineering instructor.

In June, 1965, Dreyer was named a Service Planning representative for IBM San Jose, Calif., where he was promoted to Field Engineering Instruction manager in August, 1967.

In March, 1968, he was promoted to Program Administrator at IBM's Field Engineering Headquarters in White Plains and subsequently was named administrative assistant to the vice president of Field Engineering Field Support.

Senior Citizen Supper Slated in Auditorium

The Kingston Recreation Commission will hold a pancake and sausage supper for all Senior Citizens on Thursday April 29 in the Kingston Municipal Auditorium starting at 5:30 p.m.

Reservations for the supper will be accepted by calling 331-1682 on Monday and Tuesday from 9:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. It is necessary for anyone planning to attend to register.

Immediately following the supper the seniors will be entertained by The Papa Bear Bumps a Daisy Band under the direction of Edwin Kirchner. The Commission invites all interested seniors to attend this spring activity but urges them to register on the designated days.

Endangerment Charged to Hotel Employee

ELLENVILLE

A 42-year-old hotel employee was arrested Wednesday night by Ellenville State Police on a charge of reckless endangerment of property following a minor fire in a building on the Echo Hotel property.

George A. Johnstone, who gave the hotel as his address, was arraigned before Wawarsing Town Justice Harold Sashin. He pleaded guilty and was fined $250 or five days in the Ulster County Jail. He lieu of payment of the fine he was committed to jail.

According to authorities, Johnstone reportedly entered a barn on the hotel property and fell asleep while smoking a cigarette, which caused a fire that was quickly extinguished.

Special Day At YM Camp

KINGSTON

The eighth annual special day at the YMCA day camp will be held Saturday, April 24. Buses will leave the YMCA at 9 a.m. and return about 4:30 p.m. from the Shokan site. Parents need to call the YMCA by 4 p.m. Friday to hold a reservation. Each youngster needs a bag lunch.

The program for youngsters will include a tour of camp, hike to look-out rock, archery, softball, volleyball, brook hike and fishing. After lunch the trading post will be opened followed by story time in the council ring. At 2 p.m. Landfall Trout Farm will stock the camp pond with 200, 11 to 12 inch rainbow trout and a two or three-pound trout called "Mr. Van." After the stocking there will be more of the same activities that were held in the morning.

John Hunter and some of the returning staff will be on hand to supervise the programs with the new class recently completing Counselor Training which include:

Robin Brower, Joann Conard, Joseph DeGasperi, Sharon

Traffic Study Sought by Town Wawarsing

WAWARSING

The Wawarsing Town Board has requested a traffic study be made by the State Department of Transportation, division of traffic engineering and safety, on Old Greenfield Road.

The purpose of the survey would be to establish a lower maximum speed for that section of road.

Harkin said it has come to his attention that this section of road is used as a "drag strip." As no speed limit is posted, the state maximum speed of 55 mile per hour applies to the road, and Harkin said this speed is too high.

Harkin said, "The road in question is totally inadequate and unsafe for the 'fast driver'."

Man Sought For Attack on Bard Student

RHINEBECK

Authorities throughout this area today continued search for an ex-serviceman who is sought for questioning in connection with a reported sexual assault on a Bard College co-ed that allegedly occurred late Wednesday in a wooded area near the college.

Rhinebeck State Police Sergeant William Urey said police are looking for Darrell Neese, 26, of Red Hook, who is believed to be armed with a rifle.

According to authorities, Neese allegedly accosted the girl student, whose name is withheld for security reasons, on the Ward Manor property where she resided in a dormitory operated by the college shortly before 6 p.m. yesterday.

of students, the dean of faculty, the dean of freshmen, the registrar's office, the news office, the public relations office and the development office.

President Simpson has not formerly responded to the demands. The demands were formerly presented to President Simpson at 9:20 a.m. and no further meetings have been scheduled.

The Steering Committee said on-campus support was "growing" and a "fantastic" food supply system has been organized for the participants in the building. The committee is composed of 15 students.

The sit-in has been publicized on campus by leaflets and posters. The enrollment at Vassar is 1,650.

The demands have the full endorsement of the Student Senate which met Wednesday. It said the vote was 19 to 3 with one abstention.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market opened lower in moderately active trading today.

Shortly after the opening, the Dow Jones industrial average of 30 selected blue chips showed a loss of 1.05 at 940.28. Of 421 issues across the tape, 136 declined, 130 advanced.

U.S. Steel posted a gain of 1/4 at 34 1/2, while the balance of the steel group was steady to weak. Republic and Bethlehem surrendered 1/4 each to 29 1/2 and 23 1/2, respectively. Armco and Jones & Laughlin were unchanged at 21 1/4 and 16 1/2, in that order.

In the autos, Chrysler and Ford picked up 1/4 each to 31 and 63 1/2, respectively. American Motors held unchanged at 7, but General Motors dipped 1/4 to 87 1/2.

Authorities Probing State Hospital Fire

POUGHKEEPSIE and more than 100 firefighters battled the blaze.

Meanwhile, Port Ewen Fire company responded to an alarm last night after fire was reported burning in an abandoned barge in the Rondout Creek off Connelly. Fire Chief Clark Mains was in charge. He reported brush fires broke out on the banks of the creek and they were quickly checked.

The Coast Guard responded to a call and stood by until after daylight.

Firemen were dispatched to the scene at 7:11 p.m. from Fairview and the HRSH fire department. Flames swept out of control and raged through the large structure which was built more than 80 years ago.

Through mutual aid Roosevelt and Hyde Park fire units were sent to the hospital grounds to assist. Through re-location arrangements, Hillside firemen moved into the Hyde Park station. Pleasant Valley covered up at Roosevelt Fire Co. station, Poughkeepsie sent a truck to the hospital headquarters and Arlington Fire Department assigned a pumper to the Court were Matthew Meeks, 17, of Rondout Gardens, and Hector D. Alvarez, 16, of 89 South were in operation at the scene Manor Avenue.

Trespassing Charges

Two youths were arrested by Kingston Police Wednesday on charges of criminal trespass fourth degree, after they reportedly entered the front door of the new city hall on Broadway at Meadow Street, which is under construction by the G. H. Swart Co. Booked and scheduled to appear in City Court were Matthew Meeks, 17, of Rondout Gardens, and Hector D. Alvarez, 16, of 89 South Manor Avenue.

Saugerties Church Wedding For Elizabeth L. Buck

Miss Elizabeth L. Buck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Buck of Garden Circle in Saugerties, became the bride of Fred S. Stoll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stoll of Tuxtenbridge Road in Kingston, on Sunday, April 18 at St. Mary of the Snow Church in Saugerties.

The Rev. Maximo Arganda officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Charles Dickman provided traditional wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown styled with Chantilly lace bodice over a nylon organza skirt fashioned in the empire A-line styling. Chantilly lace accented the semi-bishop sleeves. The gown featured a high neckline and scalloped lace from the waistline to the hem. Her cathedral length mantilla was bordered with lace and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Lynda Buck of Saugerties was maid of honor for her sister in a gown of blue sateen. The sleeves and neckline were accented with ruffles. Her stylized headpiece was attached to a four-tiered silk veil and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Attendants were Barbara Buck, sister of the bride; Felicia Peluso, both of Saugerties; Karen Mansfield, Catskill; and Terri Spirio of Westbury, the bride's aunt. Their pink gowns were identical in styling to that of the honor attendant's and they carried bouquets of blue carnations.

Deborah and Donna Buck, sisters of the bride, and Lisa Shy, niece of the bridegroom, were flower girls in yellow gowns styled identically to those worn by the attendants.

Henry Stoll of Kingston was best man for his brother. Ushers were Ron Albrechtsen, Bob Wright, cousin of the bridegroom; and William Buck, brother of the bride. Mark Shy, nephew of the bridegroom, was ringbearer.

A reception for 150 guests was held at Cementon Sportsmen's Club.

The bride is a graduate of Saugerties High School and Board of Cooperative Educational Services in Kingston where she trained as a beautician. Her husband attended Kingston schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Stoll will reside at Saugerties.

Diane Marie Griffin Weds Thomas G. Brown

MRS. THOMAS G. BROWN
(Photo Workshop)

Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Scoville Sr. of 4 Douglas Drive, Lake Katrine, announce the marriage of their daughter Diane Marie Griffin to Thomas G. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace L. Brown of 203 Hurley Avenue, Kingston, on Saturday, Apr. 17 in St. James United Methodist Church, Kingston.

The Rev. Harry D. Robinson officiated at the double ring ceremony. Robert Palmatier, organist, provided traditional wedding selections. Baskets of yellow and white gladioli and chrysanthemums decorated the altar and white satin bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her stepfather, the bride selected a gown styled with a bodice of Chantilly lace featuring a scalloped neckline and long full sleeves cuffed at the wrists. The floor-length skirt was fashioned with appliques of lace motifs. She wore a full length mantilla edged with scalloped lace and carried a stylized cascade of white carnations and yellow roses.

Mrs. John V. Brown, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, Lake Katrine, was matron of honor in a floor-length gown of mimosa saki fashioned with a scooped neckline and long full sleeves cuffed at the wrists. The empire waistline was encircled with floral braid and satin ribbon terminating in a bow and streamer detail at the back. She carried a colonial nosegay of deep yellow and white daisies with green ribbons.

Bridesmaids were the Misses Grace Thronburg, Kathy Witkowski and Donna Woods, all of Kingston. Their pale maize gowns were styled identically to that of the honor attendant's and they carried colonial nosegays of white daisies with green ribbon.

John V. Brown of Lake Katrine was best man for his brother. Ushers were Robert Comerford of Gardiner; Carl Embree of Kerhonkson and Charles Utley of Port Ewen.

A reception for 70 guests was held at Elmer's Inn in Ruby.

For her wedding trip through the southern states, the bride selected an ivory pantsuit with matching accessories.

The bride, a graduate of Kingston High School, class of 1970, is employed by Ulster Hot Shoppe, Ruby.

Her husband, a 1964 graduate of Kingston High School, attended Ulster County Community College, and served two years in the U.S. Army stationed in Germany. He is employed by the U.S. Post Office in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown will reside in Saugerties.

Sisterhood Will Publish Cookbook; Meeting Is Held

Plans are in the making for the publication of a cookbook by Sisterhood Ahavath Israel of Kingston. Mrs. Sanford Gossett made the announcement at a recent meeting of the group. She emphasized that all recipes for publication must be submitted as soon as possible.

Children or teenagers desiring to contribute recipes should address them to Mrs. Seymour Semilof in Kingston. Guest speaker for the April 14 meeting was Mrs. Francis Delaney who explained flowers arranging. She assisted the membership in making their own centerpieces.

A dinner-dance planned for May 1 will celebrate the fifth anniversary of the new congregational building. Mrs. Henry Jacobs, president of the Sisterhood, urges those who are planning to attend to contact Mrs. Arthur Schiff or Mrs. Joseph Horowitz about reservations. These should be made as early as possible.

It was announced also that several representatives of the Sisterhood will attend the annual spring conference of the New York State Branch of the National Women's League of the United Synagogue of America in Utica on May 17. Mrs. Henry Jacobs is in charge of making reservations for those membership desiring to attend.

Plans for the annual donor theatre party have been finalized and tickets for NO. NO NANETTE have been secured for June 16. Donor treasurer, Mrs. Bernard Cohen, is now accepting reservations.

The Sisterhood will not hold a general membership meeting during the month of May since the annual Tri-Sisterhood meeting has been scheduled for May 12 and will be held in Congregation Agudas Achim.

The regular monthly board meeting of Sisterhood Ahavath Israel will be held on Monday, May 3.

One neat installation provides best possible reception on all channels.

Good Color TV reception needs a strong, direct signal from each channel. Many expensive color TV sets suffer from obsolete antenna systems. Cheap antennas and out-dated B&W installations just won't do for color. Undesirable signals cause smear, ghosts, and unsatisfactory pictures.

One solution is to have an antenna aimed at every station. But there is a better, easier way. It's the Alliance Tenna-Rotor! A finger-tip control at your set rotates your antenna to receive a direct, strong signal from each station. Color is sharp and clear and pure. And you get more stations and more programs — even from fringe areas. Stop soon and see your TV technician about getting a good reception system with...

Saugerties Columbiettes Make Plans

Nomination of officers, plans for a retreat, fund raising for a jeep and a Family Day made up part of the agenda for a recent meeting of Saugerties Columbiettes.

In a letter to Mayor Cornelius Cox, Mrs. Joseph Kramer, president, requested he proclaim the week of June 6 as Women's Fraternal Week. The mayor's decision will be announced.

Mary Campochiaro, vice president, who conducted the April 14 meeting, also announced that on May 9 the Knights of Columbus will sponsor a Family Day beginning with an 8 a.m. guitar mass in St. John's in Veteran. Music will be the Waymakers of Mt. St. Alphonsus Seminary, Esopus. A breakfast will be served in the Glasco firehouse with May 1 as reservations deadline. All Columbiettes are urged to attend.

Catholic Action Chairman Mrs. Michale Buono with co-chairman Mrs. John Keeley are planning a penny social. Proceeds will be used for the purchase of a jeep for the Rev. James McCloskey, M.M. The transportation will be used by nuns working in Father McCloskey's parish which covers a very large geographic area in Bolivia, S.A.

A retreat for the Columbiettes has been arranged for May 16 at Mt. St. Alphonsus by Mrs. W. Roth. Those members attending are to meet at the K of C clubhouse at 8:30 a.m. The day will conclude at 3 p.m. Reservations deadline is May 12.

It was reported the Transcription Program for the Blind is progressing very well. The first assignment has been completed and returned to Xavier Institute for the Blind and the second assignment is now being completed.

Trustees will be Miss Mary Campochiaro, three years; Mrs. Philip Sweeney, two years; Mrs. Albert Chiaret, one year.

Delegates to the Hudson Valley Chapter: Mrs. Joseph Kramer, Mrs. Edward Curry, Mrs. Oscar Wey, Mrs. Patrick McGuire and Mrs. Luther Wehr; Alternates, Miss Lucille Nau, Mrs. Albert Chiaret, Mrs. Michael Buono, Mrs. Philip Sweeney and Mrs. Frank Ruddy. New York State Delegates will be Mrs. Joseph Kramer; Alternate, Mrs. Frank Ruddy.

Kathryn Heavey to Speak April 27 Before WSCS Here

The Women's Society of Christian Service of Clinton Avenue United Methodist Church will have a special treat at its regular meeting on Tuesday, April 27 at 8 p.m. when Miss Kathryn Heavey will present slides augmented with a talk on some of the interesting architectural treasures in Kingston. The meeting will be held in the Assembly Room of the church.

In 1969, Professor Paul Malo of the Department of Architecture of Syracuse University visited Kingston at the request of the Historical Landmarks Commission. Professor Malo took a walking tour of this area and his report came as a surprise to many people. He noted that in a comparatively small area, there are many different types of architecture showing the Greek and Italian influences as well as the more familiar ones.

Miss Heavey has photographed these and will offer a new view of many places which many people pass without realizing or appreciating their fine points. Friends from Trinity and St. James Churches have been invited.

LPN CONVENTION — The Licensed Practical Nurses of New York, Inc., will hold their 31st annual convention June 6-9 at Mohonk Mountain House in New Paltz. Approximately 500 LPNs and 200 students are expected to attend. Hostesses who will serve at the convention are (L-R) Mrs. Fred Spalt; Beatrice Manookian, president, Ulster County Division, LPN; Charlotte Smith; E. Lorraine Sobolewski. Other hostesses include Elizabeth Clark and Elizabeth Scully. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

60-Year Old Widower Loves Girl of 18

DEAR ABBY: Please help me. I am a widower and very much in love with an 18-year-old girl. Although I am over 60, the difference in our ages doesn't matter, as the girl is very mature for her age and I am in the best of health.

But here is my problem. My son is trying to break us up. He tries to tell me that this girl is too young for me, that she is only after my money. He's tried to turn me against her, but I think he is trying to get her for himself.

First he tried to make her look bad in my eyes, and when that didn't work, he tried to make ME look bad in HER eyes. How can I get this girl to marry me before my son ruins everything between us? I don't want to lose her. — DAD

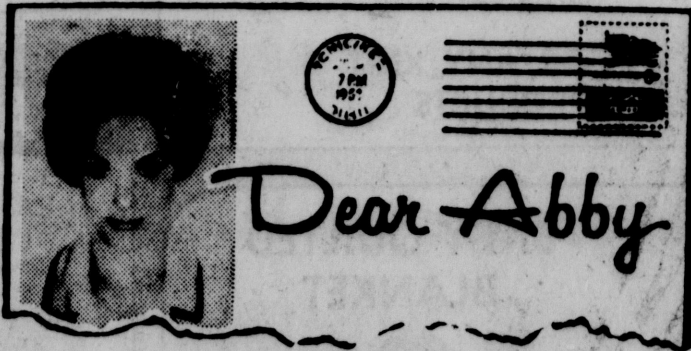

DEAR DAD: A long engagement would be to your advantage. Don't worry about "losing" the girl. If it's the real thing, it will stand the test of time. And if it's not, you're ahead to find out early.

DEAR ABBY: I am a man who has been divorced for a year. Since then I have dated women who have no children and women who have had up to five children.

When my friends hear that I'm dating a woman with children they have been unanimous in their opinions that I should avoid getting involved with a woman who has a ready-made family.

Maybe I'm a weirdo, Abby, but I feel that children are an asset to a woman, not a liability. When I remarry, I hope the woman has a family, and the more the merrier. Children can add strength and purpose to a relationship.

So far I haven't been able to find anyone who agrees with me. How do you feel?

— LOVES CHILDREN

DEAR LOVES: With your attitude, you should have a wide selection. In fact, you should have an open field as there is apt to be very little competition. Raising children is expensive in terms of money and emotions. If you can afford them, I say more power to you. I think you're generous, courageous and one in a million. (And if your identity ever becomes known, you'll need police protection.)

DEAR ABBY: This is for "TOO MUCH MOTHER." Abby is right! Take her advice and get transferred to another city if possible. And make the break while your mother is still able to adjust to being without you. If you continue to let yourself be her "whole life," neither of you will ever have a life of your own.

I was an only child. My father died when I was a teenager. My mother made me her whole life. She refused to let me make any close friends, and she made none of her own. She reminded me daily how much she "needed" me. She became more possessive and domineering with each passing year.

My mother is nearly 90 now and she's confined to a wheelchair so I certainly can't leave her now. Besides, I am 66, so where is there for me to go? — "TRAPPED"

DEAR ABBY: If you could give the young parents of today just one piece of advice, what would it be?

NEW MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Start early! A child must learn that no means NO! It doesn't mean maybe. And maybe doesn't mean yes.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

List Air Force Assignments

Tinker AFB, Okla.
Word has been received from the Air Force Home Town News Center at Tinker AFB that Airman Randolph A. Petersen of Lake Katrine and Daniel P. Holland of Wallkill have graduated basic training at Lackland AFB in Texas while Airman First Class Norman J. Plummer, also of Lake Katrine, has been assigned to duty in Thailand.

Airman Plummer, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Burton J. Plummer, is now stationed at Karat, Thailand.

Airman Holland, the son of Mrs. Grace M. Holland of Pleasant Avenue, Wallkill, has been assigned to Sheppard AFB, Texas, for training as a medical services specialist. The airman's father, Charles A. Holland, resides on Central Avenue in Wallkill.

Airman Petersen, son of Mrs. Dorothy E. Petersen of Esther Place, Lake Katrine, has been assigned to Chanute AFB, Ill., for training in the civil engineering, mechanical and electrical field.

In other Air Force news, Sergeant John M. Stiller Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Stiller of Bloomington, is a member of the 58th Tactical Fighter Training Wing at Luke AFB, Ariz., that has earned the U.S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

Sergeant Stiller, an air operations specialist, will wear a distinctive service ribbon to mark his affiliation with the 58th.

The Tactical Air Command wing was cited for its contribution to the Air Force and for enhancing the security of the United States by accomplishing a three-fold mission between January 1968 and January 1970.

Wing personnel were recognized for outstanding performance in training U.S. pilots in the F-100 Super Sabre, the workhorse of tactical air units in Vietnam; in training German students in the F-104 Starfighter for the defense of their homeland and NATO commitment; and in training other allied pilots in the F-5 Freedom Fighter through the U.S. Military Assistance Program.

Sergeant Stiller, who has served in Vietnam, is a 1965 graduate of Pine Bush (N.Y.) Central High School. He has attended Cheyney (Pa.) State College.

In other Navy and Marine Corps news, Seaman Reginald C. Hamilton, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald C. Hamilton Sr. of 26 Spruce Street Kingston, is serving aboard the amphibious attack cargo ship USS St. Louis, which is returning to its homeport of Long Beach, Calif., after an eight month deployment to the Western Pacific.

While cruising in the Western Pacific the ship received an emergency call from the Greek merchant cargo ship Eugenia M. To bring medical assistance to a seriously ill second mate. The St. Louis reversed her course and headed towards a rendezvous point.

The St. Louis physician then commenced diagnosis and treatment of the Greek sailor.

Lieutenant (junior grade) John S. Armfield, Jr., son of the Rev. and Mrs. John S. Armfield of 40 Market Street Ellenville, is serving aboard the amphibious attack cargo ship USS St. Louis, which is returning to its homeport of Long Beach, Calif., after an eight month deployment to the Western Pacific.

Marine First Lieutenant Thomas M. Thompson, husband of the former Miss Marion Schiskie of Pine Grove Avenue, Kingston is now serving at the Marine Corps Air Station, Jacksonville, N.C.

Marine Cpl. Frederick M. Bouton Jr., husband of the former Miss Patricia A. Cross of Phoenicia, is now serving with Marine Aircraft Group 32 at the Marine Corps Air Station, Beaufort, S.C.

JOANNE A. OLEXA

1970 graduate of Ontario Central High School, spent a 14 day leave with her family prior to reporting to Bainbridge for duty.

She enlisted at Kingston for a three-year term on Jan. 22, 1971. Graduation ceremonies took place on April 2.

Bohan Retires From Navy and Draws Salutes

CITATION — Mrs. Norman Bohan reads an engineering certificate awarded to her husband at retirement ceremonies recently in Washington, D. C. Joining the Bohans is Rear Admiral R. L. Baughan Jr. (C) vice commander of Naval Ordnance Systems Command, where Capt. Bohan served at his last duty assignment.

ULSTER PARK President Richard M. Nixon and the United States Navy have honored with special citations, Ulster Park Navy Captain Norman C. Bohan who returns to his River Road home this month to retire after 29 years of naval service.

Captain Bohan, a 1944 graduate of the Naval Academy, is the son of the late Thomas M. Bohan and Mrs. Bohan. The late Mr. Bohan had been a leader in local American Legion activities for almost 50 years.

Capt. Bohan, in his late post as chief Navy contract officer for two major contract research and development laboratories in the Washington, D.C. area, was responsible for budgeted efforts exceeding $110 million a year.

President Nixon in a citation for Captain Bohan, noted the officer's particular "contributions during a critical time in the nation's history."

Rear Admiral H. L. Baughan, Vice Commander, Naval Ordnance Systems Command, presented the Chief Executive's citation. The Admiral also made the award of naval honors including the Naval Ordnance Engineers Certificate. This certificate is won only by experienced officers with wise technical backgrounds in ordnance and who have served at least two tours of duty in an ordnance command. The certificate carries with it the highest recommendations of technical ordnance proficiency.

Captain Bohan participated in the Normandy invasion, the assault on Southern France, and served also in the Atlantic fleet. During the Cuban crisis, the captain was skipper of the U.S.S. Charles R. Ware (DD-865), a destroyer deployed by President Kennedy to confront the expected Russian threat.

Captain Bohan was one of the officers who formed the nucleus of the Special Projects program which led to the Polaris missile defense described now by military experts as the deterrent to World War III. He also commanded the U.S.S. Springfield, a guided missile cruiser, and the U.S.S. Joyce, a destroyer radar picket ship which he once brought to Kingston for a Memorial Day weekend.

Each ship he commanded received the Navy "E" for excellence in competition with all of the ships in the fleet, and development laboratories in the Washington area. One of the organizations, the Applied Physics Laboratory of the Johns Hopkins University in Silver Spring, Md. developed the Transit-Navy navigational system, and is engaged in contractual management to biomedical engineering, urban transportation studies as well as Street, Rolling Meadows, in working in Navy ship defense. Kingston. The Bohans have six children: David, 24, Michael, 23, Joseph P. (Barbara) New, 17, Stephen, 14 and Jana, 12. Captain Bohan's mother will live with the Captain and his family at Box 147 River Road, Ulster Park.

Hudson River Study Planned

POUGHKEEPSIE Area students enrolled in Dutchess Community College's new two-year environmental studies program will receive an ideal introduction this summer to marine life in the Hudson River.

Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation has awarded the college's department of biological sciences a $12,000 grant to conduct a series of tests on the ecological impact of the proposed Roseton generating facility north of Newburgh.

According to Associate Professor Albert Feldman, project director, students will begin sampling and surveillance June 14 in the vicinity of the Roseton and Danskammer generating stations through enrollment in a specialized field biology summer course offered at DCC which will accept students from area colleges.

The course will be open for "cross registration" under the auspices of the Associated Colleges of the Mid-Hudson Area which includes students from Bard, Bennett, Marist, New Paltz, Vassar, Mt. Saint Mary, and Ulster.

In describing the grant to Dutchess, a Central Hudson spokesman said that the utility "believes man's success in minimizing the adverse impact of his activities on the environment will depend on the availability of a sufficient number of persons trained in the biological sciences, in ecology, and in the methods of environmental technology."

The program being established by DCC will provide an opportunity for students interested in the environmental sciences to gain practical experience in the conduct of field and laboratory work of the kind required to assess the impact on a marine environment of the circulation of river water through the condensers of an electric generating station.

Dutchess Fair Talent Hunt On

RHINEBECK The Dutchess County Fair's seventh annual Talent Search has been designated by the New York State Fair as a regional auditioning place for state talent competition.

Raphael Mark, talent coordinator for the Dutchess exposition, has informed fellow members of its entertainment committee that the distinction was disclosed at a conference with Allen A. Allen, director of the statewide competition at Syracuse.

"There is no way one can compete on the state level unless he has competed on a county level," Mark said today. "This means that one has to have appeared on some stage somewhere before he can apply for the prizes at the big State Fair. We are proud to have had our Dutchess County Fair Talent Search approved for this purpose."

The coordinator pointed out that the Talent Search which runs for the duration of the

Boyd Retiring in June, Long School Career

KINGSTON One of the most respected figures in the Kingston Consolidated Schools will be feted at a retirement dinner May 21 at the Capri in Port Ewen.

A.J. Boyd, after 41 years of service to the school district, including the last 19 years as principal of the George Washington School, will retire when the school year ends this June.

Boyd is a well-known and highly popular figure in the local school district. He has taught at every grade level and has served as principal at many of the city's schools. He was appointed principal of the George Washington School when that facility opened its doors in 1952, and has served in that capacity ever since.

Boyd was born in Kingston on December 6, 1904, the fifth child of James and Mary E. Kelley Boyd. He lived with his family for many years on Orchard Street and now resides at 18 Overlook Drive with his wife, Rose Campbell Boyd, and their seven children.

His formal education began in Kingston at St. Mary's School and Boyd later was graduated from Kingston High School. After taking several "methods" courses at the old New Paltz Teachers College, he embarked upon his teaching career in 1922 at the Springtown School. His salary in those days was $900 a year, and no snow days were permitted.

Boyd began teaching at the age of 18, and he recalled the snowy mornings when he had to rise at 5:30 a.m. to catch the Walkill Valley Railroad for the trip to the one-room schoolhouse. While he had to walk more than two miles to and from the train station every morning, he never missed a single day of work.

Within a few years, in spite of the long hours, Boyd was able to complete enough courses at New Paltz to obtain his diploma. He went on to take summer school and extension courses at Fordham University, where he received his B.S. degree in 1932. Six years later, he received his M.A. degree from New York University.

Since that time, he has experienced a variety of teaching and administrative positions in the Kingston school system, and there are hundreds of former students and co-workers who recall and testify to his dedication as an educator.

On May 21, parents, friends, teachers, school staff members, clergy, former pupils and civic leaders will gather to pay tribute to Boyd.

Anyone wishing to attend the testimonial dinner should contact the Treasurer, Boyd Testimonial, 67 Wall Street no later than May 7.

Spent Bullets No Match for Bucks

BALANCING ACT — Milwaukee Bucks (1) Oscar Robertson balanced on one leg as he gets set for a shot to the basket in front of the Baltimore Bullets (3) Fred Carter as Bullets Wes Unseld (center) watches. Bucks won series opener, 98-88. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP) — It was the Milwaukee Bucks against the opener of the National Basketball Association championship series, but the spectre of last year's champion New York Knicks hovered over them.

"We played very bad," Coach Gene Shue of the Bucks said simply.

Coach Larry Costello of the Bucks said only a bit more. "We were not sharp. I think Baltimore can play better and I know we can play better."

Both were talking about Milwaukee's sloppy 98-88 uninspiring victory over the Bullets in the national television game Wednesday night for a 1-0 lead in the best-of-7 series.

Lew Alcindor put it mildly after the Bucks victory.

"Wes (Unseld) played me the way he usually did," Alcindor said. "But I think maybe he forgot what it was like."

Alcindor was the guiding light behind the Bucks' win, even though he played just over nine minutes in the first half after early foul trouble.

"All I can say about those calls," Alcindor explained, "is that they don't call them that way during the season. I guess I'll just have to adjust."

Explaining his third quarter surge, Alcindor said, "they started hitting me in good position. Baltimore couldn't sag in on me, because (Bob) Dandridge was hitting."

Oddly, the Knicks, eliminated by Baltimore last Monday in a gruelling seventh game of their semifinal series, were blamed by both clubs for the off-night in Milwaukee had 23 turnovers and Baltimore 14.

"Subconsciously, we have had to readjust our thinking," explained Greg Smith of the Bucks.

The Bucks, haunted by the loss of starters Eddie Miles, Gus Johnson and Kevin Loughery for all or parts of the series—the Bullets were no match for the heavily-favored Bucks and awesome Lew Alcindor.

The 7-foot-2 monster man of the middle took the game out of Baltimore's hands in the third quarter with 18 points on eight of 11 shots from the field.

Alcindor, who sat out 15 minutes of the first half in foul trouble and had only eight points and one rebound, raised the Bucks from a 50-42 halftime loss to an 11-point spread in the final period. With neither team a ball of fire, that type of lead was enough, although the spunky Bullets made one last gasp and pulled within six points before running out of steam.

Alcindor finished with 31 points on 13 field goals in 16 tries and added 16 rebounds in the final half.

Oscar Robertson was the other big Buck, taking over in Alcindor's absence for 15 of his total 22 points in their first half.

Earl Monroe had 26 for the Bullets, who hit only 36.4 per cent from the field and 47.8 from the free throw line.

Milwaukee, too, was off their record regular season pace of more than 50 per cent from the field, managing only 46.8 despite Alcindor's accuracy.

YOU CAN'T REALLY APPRECIATE A VOLVO 164 UNTIL YOU'VE DRIVEN A MERCEDES.

"The 164 is exactly what Volvo intended—a more expansive, faster and more plush Volvo which, at over $1000 less, offers luxury sedan buyers an attractive alternative to a Mercedes."

Car & Driver

"The interior rivals the luxury of the more-expensive Mercedes and has several features that go beyond the Federal safety standards."

Philadelphia Inquirer

"This is the first power steering we've encountered that is as good as Mercedes—it's about time somebody challenged them."

Road & Track

"You have a clear choice between this sedan and a Mercedes 250. The Volvo will perform as well and is a great deal less complex to service."

World Car Guide

To test-drive a Mercedes, you can see the Yellow Pages for the dealer nearest you. Then come to us and appreciate the difference.

DCSL Admits Kingston—At Long Last

By IRA FUSFELD.

WAPPINGERS FALLS
Kingston High School has been admitted to the Dutchess County Scholastic League (DCSL), finally.

here Wednesday at a meeting, fall, but Maroon squads won't be able to compete in all sports until the 1972-73 season. Kingston officials who have seen schedule commitments are met by all parties. This means that Kingston teams will be phased into the DCSL, beginning in the DCSL football in 1971, and probably will not play in the basketball loop until the 1972-73 season. Hurley said that entrance into the Dutchess County Scholastic League will save the school money in reduced travelling; and give his with just three members in teams a sense of "league belonging" which is now all but nonexistent. The acceptance of Kingston into the DCSL will probably mean the long predicted demise of the DUSO, a league officially let them know about the DCSL acceptance. Hurley explained that the "phasing in" of Kingston into the DCSL is "normal procedure." All of the teams, he noted, have completed football schedules for the fall, and most have drawn up basketball slates. Kingston has ten of its 18 basketball games for next season already set, and eight of them are against DCSL teams, raising the possibility that the rest could be added, but that prospect is dim.

The Kingston athletic director did foresee the possibility of Maroon teams being in DCSL cross country and wrestling competition immediately. Hurley presented Kingston's case for entry into the circuit prior to the vote at Roy C. Ketcham High School. He explained why KHS wanted to be a part of the league and answered questions from the representatives present.

Arlington and Red Hook Notch Baseball Wins

KINGSTON
Arlington High School remained undefeated with an 8-5 win over host Marlboro and Red Hook tallied six runs in the first inning as Ron Camisaca pitched a two-hit, 6-1 victory over Millbrook at the losers' diamond yesterday.

Marlboro is now 3-3 on the season while the Raiders are 4-1, 2-0 in the Bi-Valley League. Camisaca was nearly perfect as he struck out six and walked but two while allowing just two singles. The winning pitcher helped his own cause going three-for-three at the plate, including a double and a run-scoring single. With one out in the first stanza, Gene Gardner singled and advanced to second at Jeff Thompson was safe on an error. Tom Mabie then produced the first marker for the winners as he singled Gardner home. Terry Thayer made the Mitchell. Camisaca ended the inning. But, scoring for the winners as his sacrifice fly scored Thompson. An error on a ground ball by Brian Becker scored Mabie and Becker tallied on a double by Dan Theberg. Bobby Mitchell then singled to drive in the three run first stanza for the Dukes. Rhoades then tallied on a single by Pierre Ferguson and the losers had the score Mike Salzano and then came home himself as Lou Rhoades followed with a double in the three run first stanza for the Dukes. Rhoades then tallied on a single by Pierre Ferguson and the losers had the State Open Champions on the ropes, 3-0 in the first inning. The Admirals then ripped for eight runs over the next six stanzas as Cal Reuping and Boots Panella smacked two hits seventh for the Dukes, but took the loss. Jones k'd five and walked three.

Bob Fenn was the winning pitcher, striking out nine and walking one. Charlie Jones tripled home a run in the eighth inning. The Dukes, but took the loss. Jones k'd five and walked three.

Kingston High School's track team evened its' record at 2-2 with a 97-43 victory over host Saugerties yesterday while Arlington topped Marlboro 5-4. The Admirals of Arlington, AHS won the DCSL-Central Section event, 108-33. The Sawyers are 1-3 on the season. Saugerties hosts Hudson on Friday while Kingston is idle until next week. Dave Kwasnowski and Gerald Clingman were double winners for KHS as the Maroons swept to victory. Kwasnowski captured the hurdle events; taking the highs in 16.2 and the lows in 21 seconds flat. Clingman won both the 100 and 220-yard dashes. Gerry did 100 in 10.5 and then wasted his opponents in the 220 with a 22.8 second effort. Kingston runners swept the 220, discuss, high jump and triple jump events. Arlington's depth proved the undoing of the visiting Sawyers as Jim Johnson, Steve Colangelo, Bill Novak and Chris Teasdale scored double victories. Teasdale was the picture of endurance as he captured both the mile and two-mile events in 5:01 and 10:22.8. Gary A. Kingston and Saugerties High School tennis teams gained victories against non-league opponents yesterday as action was relatively light on the scholastic net scene. The Maroon belters defeated Hudson, 8-0, while the Sawyers downed Onteora, 4-3, in a hard-fought match. Kingston has now taken three straight matches without a loss. Princeton defeated Marlboro 6-1, while Saugerties is 1-1. Coach John Hunter's team travels to Hyde Park today for a match with the Presidents of Roosevelt. The Sawyers have a

DODGE COLT

The Colt comes in four different models: 2-door coupe, 2-door hardtop, 4-door sedan and station wagon. To show you what a bargain a Colt is—all that good stuff you see up there in the little pictures is standard—on all models.

Of course, so are the variable-ratio steering and the four headlights (instead of the two you get on a lot of small cars). And the fully synchronized, floor-mounted, 4-speed gearbox. (We think it's the easiest shifting transmission in the industry.)

The flow-through ventilation, disc brakes, adjustable steering column, incredibly efficient engine, trunk-lid antenna (except the wagon)—they're all standard.

Second 3-Homer Day for Stargell

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Pirates were fortunate Wednesday night that Willie Stargell waited until his fourth trip to the plate to try for a homer.

Stargell, who struck out in that appearance, said, "I was trying for a homer and I wound up making a U-turn instead. Everytime I try to hit one. I wind up with the old U-turn."

But in his first three appearances, when he wasn't going for the distance, Stargell homered each time to drive in five runs and pace the Pirates to a 10-2 rout of the Atlanta Braves.

It was the second time this season that Stargell, who has collected seven of his nine homers against the Braves, has hit three homers in one game against Atlanta.

Stargell has now homered three times in one game on four different occasions, two short of the record of six held by Johnny Mize. Mize did it twice in one week in July of 1938. No player has hit four homers in a game since Willie Mays did it in 1961.

Stargell can't quite explain his fast start, but he thinks the fact he lost 18 pounds during the winter before showing up for spring training may have helped.

Loser Jim Nash gave up Stargell's first two homers—in the first and fourth innings—and Tom Kelley allowed the third one in the sixth inning.

Stargell hit three homers on April 10th against the Braves when Phil Niekro was the victim twice and George Stone allowed one. Ron Herbel was the first Atlanta pitcher to be tagged by Stargell on April 9th.

Stargell was surprised by his production Wednesday night

because, "I didn't think I was swinging that well."

Stargell's fast start is one of the main reasons the Pirates, the defending Eastern Division champions, are just a half-game behind St. Louis in the standings.

In the other games, St. Louis topped San Francisco 5-3, New York downed Cincinnati 5-2 and

Los Angeles routed San Diego

10-2. The Houston-Chicago and Philadelphia-Montreal games were postponed by rain.

The Cardinals, who handed

Juan Marichal his first defeat

Tuesday night, did the same thing to Gaylord Perry Wednesday.

Both Marichal and Perry are now 3-1 this season. Perry lasted only five innings and allowed eight hits and five runs from Tug McGraw to give New Cincinnati.

Richie Allen drove in three runs, two of them with his third homer of the season, to pace

the Dodgers past the Padres.

Bill Singe pitched a nine-inning shutout while the Dodgers collected 18

hits, five by Willie Davis.

Northrup Tough on Birds

By JOE CARNICELLI
UPI Sports Writer

Jim Northrup doesn't have any superstar aspirations, but it's getting hard to convince the Baltimore Orioles.

Northrup drove in three runs with a solo homer and two run-scoring doubles Wednesday night to boost the Detroit Tigers to a 5-1 victory over the Orioles. He also had driven in four runs the previous night to help the Tigers stop the world champion Orioles.

"Those were two pretty good games," said Northrup, who leads the American League in runs batted in with 17. "They got us right back into it."

The two victories pulled the Tigers, who started slowly in the American League East, to within 2 games of the first-place Orioles.

In other AL action Wednesday night, Oakland edged

California 4-2 in 13 innings.

Washington downed New York

9-6 and Boston beat Cleveland

9-7. The Chicago-Milwaukee and

Kansas City-Minnesota games were rained out.

Sal Bando's two-run homer in the top of the 13th inning, his third in two nights, boosted

Oakland past the Angels.

Epstein drove in three runs in the sixth inning, as the Red Sox stopped Cleveland. Boston

trailing 7-2 at one stage but tied the game with four runs in the fourth and another in the fifth before Yastrzemski broke the tie with an eighth-inning double.

A Record Breaker On State U. Track

NEW PALTZ, in 1:58.7, in the javelin where Marist's Hank Blum made a toss of 190 feet seven inches; in the shot where Bill Sol of Brooklyn threw the weight 45 feet 10 and three quarter inches; in the discus where Blum unloaded for a 145 feet four inch showing; and in the mile relay where the Brooklyn team went four laps in 3:24.4.

But with all the track records going to the opposition, New Palitz still managed to win on the strength of double victories by Ken Cespe and Ken Potter, and key first by Barry Boonfield, Mark Ellison, and Jimmy Muns.

"I was really pleased with this performance," said Hawk Coach Ed Bell, "especially because Brooklyn has beaten us last year. It took a real gutsy effort from several of our men, including Bloomfield and Spadaro, and of course Cespe and Potter."

The Hawks go to Philadelphia on Friday to compete in the Penn Relays. Their record now stands at 3-0.

Joan Jameson Blasts 289

KINGSTON When Joan Jameson came up for the 10th frame of her second game in this week's session of the Bowlerama Quads, every bowler in the league knew what was in her grasp—a perfect 300 score and a bit of tenpin immortality.

She had slammed nine perfect pocket shots in a row for strikes. Now she stepped to the approach, as the tension mounted. The 10th toss was another perfect strike. Then came heartbreak: A seemingly perfect 1-3 shot broke too sharply at the end, buried deep into the pocket and left the 4-pin standing.

The 4-pin tap is one of the heartbreakers in bowling, as any bowler knows.

Mrs. Jameson picked off the 4-pin and settled for 289, highest game of the 1970-71 season and second highest in the all-time Kingston Woman's Bowling Association ratings.

The 289 came in the middle of a hectic night for Mrs. Jameson, who rates with Kathy DeCicco as the two top women performers of this season. She had opened with 145 and then tapered off to 169 in the third game for a 603 overall, her third 600-set of the season. Her others triples were 614 and 607.

Mrs. Jameson's 289 helped the Carriage House team to a new single game high of 862, breaking their old mark of 789. They also hold the team triple record for a four-woman squad at 2209. She will receive WIBC awards for the 289 and rolling 100 pins over her average in a game.

Kathy DeCicco shared scoring honors with Mrs. Jameson, as she put together games of 231,

JOAN JAMESON

177 and 201 for 619 to lead the Quads and register her fourth "600" of the 1970-71 season. Mrs. Jameson has three. Mrs. DeCicco has a pair of 619s, a 612 and 603 rolled on April 9th in the Ferraro Major and never reported for publication.

Other qualifiers in the league were: Marion Sanford 224-565, Kay Yapple 526, Terry Becker 207-517, Pat Yonta 511, Pat Schlichting 200-509, Betty Shlightner 502, Connie Glaser 501.

Wallkill Blasts Ellies In Non-League Contest

WALLKILL players and Coach Don Frank. And break it they did, in the top of the first no less. By the end of the game, Ellenville had four hits to go along with the runs.

Wallkill, however, drubbed pitcher Bob Sahler for three in the first, seven in the second, and two in the third, and that was that.

Rich Gerentine of Marlboro and Rick McCord of New Palitz had fired the blanks at Ellenville in the two previous games. The Ellies are now 0-6.

Wallkill is 1-4.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: on between your loved one and a friend since it will all blow over very quickly. It's all right to go along with them you can reap the benefits. However, if you balk at them and try to force doubtful conditions you could have some difficult moments ahead. Show you are the one who is wide awake and alert.

ARIS (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Although an associate operates much different than you go along with him or her now. And you benefit greatly. Try not to argue with one who opposes you. Do what you think is right and all is well.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Don't become frustrated about conditions around you, but get your work done efficiently and all works out fine for you. A health condition should be taken care of now instead of permitting it to get worse later on.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Keep out of any argument going

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) promise in this chart, or ruin A dynamic associate expects it altogether, if not taught early you to cooperate with him the great importance of without further ado, so carry finishing what is once started, through and all is fine. Await The field of selling is par-making any comments until ticularly good, and any other new plan has been tried. Then professions were travel is the give only constructive criticism, prime factor. Give good ethical training.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Look into those puzzling matters "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of emotionally about them and your life is largely up to YOU! doing nothing. Investigate Carroll Righter's Individual Forecast for your sign for May to those who are in difficulty of some sort. For your copy send your birthdate and $1 to Carroll Righter Forecast, The Daily Freeman, Box 629, Hollywood, Calif. 90028.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Although you want to entertain, make sure you do not bring together individuals who are much opposed to one another or there is trouble. Give deserved compliments to those you admire. Put business matter out of the way early.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) It's all right to try and make home life more harmonious but don't take all day about it. Save time for important outside duties. Changes you want to make should await a better day.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have excellent ideas, but they are best worked out; on familiar soil instead of places about which you are not familiar. Gain the assistance of an associate you can trust. You cannot handle everything all alone.

PICES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) A plan you have may not be good, so study it more carefully before making any decisions. Don't start making radical changes or you can certainly get in trouble quickly.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those clever young people who has a habit of going from one project to the other without completing any of them. This could easily lessen fine

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

WHEN TO KISS: (Q.) I had 10 people over. It was sort of a party. My mother thought it was fine until she saw my girl friend and her boy friend kissing. She asked me what they were doing and I told her they were kissing.

She started yelling. She said we're too young for that. She said we don't know how to control our emotions. I told her they were only kissing. She said next would come heavy petting, then little illegitimate kids running around.

She asked me if I was kissing my boy friend, too. I told her yes. She told me to stop, and if my girl friend keeps on kissing her boy friend not to associate with her.

My mother reads in the papers about teen-age girls getting pregnant and she worries. Do you agree with her? Is 14 and 15 too young to be kissing a boy if you really like him? —Nearly 15 And Likes Him in Wyoming.

(A.) I do not know whether I agree with your mother in all details. But I do think that 15 or 16 is a normal age to begin dating, and that kissing should come after that time and age.

TWO GIRLS, ONE BOY: (Q.) I like this boy and so does my girl friend. My sister is friendly with him, and with my girl friend, too. My sister told him she would introduce him to me if he would introduce her to a boy friend of his she likes. They agreed, and I met him and he wants to go out with me. My girl friend has found out and won't talk to me or my sister. Should I go out with him? He says he likes my girl friend only as a friend.—Asked in California.

(A.) Dating a boy that you like and that your girl friend also likes is all right.

If she doesn't like it, that's her problem, not yours.

Heifitz, McKay Big Dates

NEW YORK (AP) — Two multimillion-mile travelers—their one common trait—have important network dates during the next couple of days.

Jascha Heifitz, recently turned 70, will make his television concert debut on NBC Friday at 10-11 p.m. EST. The hour must take its place with the recent Horowitz and Rubinstein programs and will be a real special for lovers of music and the violin.

Jim McKay, just turned 50, will preside over a highlights program on ABC Saturday at 5-6 p.m. EST marking the 10th anniversary of his "Wide World of Sports," an occasion for the sports watcher. The program has covered more than 100 sports and never repeated a program.

The world famous violinist chose to tape the musical portions of his program last fall in Paris because he was offered the accompaniment of the French National Orchestra—"without a conductor so the musicians and I could work together without interference."

His program will range from Mozart and Bach to Gershwin. For appeal to the average viewer, the musical portion will be preceded by scenes of the maestro at leisure in his Beverly Hills, Calif., home.

McKay is a sharp contrast in life styles. While Heifitz has traveled the world on the concert circuit, McKay, whose job keeps him away from home about half the time, flies out and back to New York almost as often as a commercial pilot.

He has worked briefly in countries ranging alphabetically from Argentina to Yugoslavia covering athletic events including rattlesnake hunts, sumo wrestling, aerobics and ice dancing.

He finds skiing the hardest sport to cover. He says soccer has never caught on here because "there's something about not using hands and arms, and that tennis would be bigger on TV if there were better and more colorful American players."

Jim believes he is getting better at handling the problem caused by abrupt time changes.

"It is called asynchronists," he said, "and even the State Department recognizes it. They cause 'three days to get their internal and their clocks reset. I find the best way to avoid trouble is to eat little and drink nothing on the plane. Take a one-or two-hour nap—no more on arrival. Then get up and start operating on local time."

DEFIANT VETS — Vietnam war veterans, who are holding week-long demonstrations against the war, defied a Supreme Court ban and voted to sleep at their encampment at the foot of Capitol Hill on Wednesday. Police buses and patrol wagons were parked nearby, but police made no attempt to evict the demonstrators. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Court Demonstration—Vets Arrested

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Scores of Vietnam veterans, their hands clamped around the backs of their heads like POWs, were arrested and marched off to waiting buses today when they set up a noisy, end-the-war demonstration at the Supreme Court.

The arrests were made on the marble steps of the called Vietnam Veterans' Supreme Court building by Washington police when about 150 vets, part of a gradually growing number of ex-GI protestors, refused orders to break up their chanting demonstration.

They were the first mass arrests since the members of a four-year-old organization

Seventeen hours earlier, the Supreme Court refused to reconsider a ruling banning a campout on the grassy Mall by the participants.

Nevertheless, the demonstrators stayed on the Mall during a cold, damp night—in low 40 degree weather—and no effort was made to evict them. The ban prohibited sleeping, but the men at least sought to sleep, huddled in whatever they could find from bedrolls to blankets.

A U.S. Park Police field commander, Lt. William R. Kinsey, said there would be no arrests while the veterans slept. "We're not going to pick up some wounded veteran and throw him into the street," he said. Other officers said they would act only under orders from the Justice Department.

Metropolitan Police Chief Jerry V. Wilson, whose force would supplement the smaller park unit in case a move is made, looked over the gathering of men and termed it "peaceful."

The veterans voted 480 to 400 Wednesday to remain on the mall in spite of the Supreme Court order upholding Interior Department regulations against camping in public parks because of sanitation hazards. The Justice Department also said allowing the veterans to use the mall would set a precedent for other demonstrations—many of which will attract tens of thousands—planned over the next few months.

The rules forbid any overnight use of bedrolls, making fires, erecting any shelter or tent other than a medical tent, breaking ground or cooking on the grassy parkland extending from the Capitol grounds west past the Washington Monument to the Lincoln Memorial.

Missile Sites Attacked

SAIGON (UPI) — A U.S. jet fired a Shrike missile at a SAM2 missile site 25 miles northeast of Mu Gia Pass, 85 miles north of the demilitarized zone (DMZ) in North Vietnam.

A second Shrike missile was fired at another SAM2 site 30 miles northwest of Mu Gia Pass in Laos, the sources said.

It was not known whether the Communist missile installations were destroyed.

In both cases, the F105 opened fire after electronic evidence of a "lock-on" by the Communist radar, meaning it was preparing to fire, the sources said.

The U.S. command said today 56 Americans were killed last week in the Indochina war and 195 were wounded. It brought to 44,974 the number of U.S. servicemen killed in the war.

The U.S. death toll last week was up 14 from the previous week.

The Allied commands placed the Communist death toll at 2,791.

In Paris, meanwhile, the chief North Vietnamese and Viet Cong negotiators of the Vietnam peace talks hailed the antiwar demonstrations in Washington and said the protest rallies were backed by the bulk of the American population.

In parallel statements at the start of today's 110th session, Hanoi's Xuan Thuy and the Viet Cong's Madame Nguyen Thi Binh praised the antiwar protesters as "courageous Americans" whose opposition to the war meets the interests of the American people.

Aside from a handful of warmongers, "the bulk of the public opinion is indignant over President Nixon's April 16 statement" in which he reaffirmed his desire not to abandon South Vietnam, Thuy said.

Says Red Silos Multiplying

BOSTON (UPI) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said today the new Soviet missile silos detected by U.S. intelligence have begun to multiply at a rapid rate.

Jackson, who recently disclosed the existence of the huge new silos, said there was now "forbidding evidence of a determined, relentless Soviet buildup of a new offensive missile equal and perhaps superior" to the 25-megaton Russian SS9. The development, he said, could wreck the Soviet-American arms limitation talks in Vienna.

The senator's warning, in a speech prepared for the World Affairs Council of Boston, followed by one day similar concerns expressed about the Soviet silos by Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said in New York the new developments may require "offsetting U.S. action" in strategic weaponry.

In an interview prior to the speech, Jackson said the new silos still were empty and it would probably be 18 months before any strategic hardware could be completed or installed.

Jackson said he did not know whether the new development was a Soviet move to gain an edge at the Vienna discussions, but continuation of the construction presented a "danger of the talks collapsing" and could lead to "a catastrophic situation."

"The world is moving into a dangerous period," Jackson said. "The overall strategic balance is tilting in favor of Moscow."

He said that, subsequent to the initial discovery of the silos, "we have now learned that Soviet construction of this system is moving ahead at a rapid rate. We know this new system involves missiles not less destructive than the 25 megaton SS9 and it could mean missiles that are far more destructive than the SS9."

Egypt Rejects Demands on Suez

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Egypt "categorically rejects" Israel's Suez Canal demands, Cairo's semi-official newspaper Al Ahrar said today. But sources in Jerusalem said the Israeli government believes it had advanced the issue to the stage of active negotiations.

Al Ahrar repeated Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's condition that his troops must cross the canal to "assume their national responsibilities" if Israeli forces pull back from the east bank.

A primary Israeli condition for reopening of the waterway is that neither Egyptian nor Soviet forces cross it and occupy territory evacuated by the Israelis.

Israel also has called for an Egyptian pledge not to resume the fighting and a guarantee that the canal issue be regarded separate from an overall Middle East settlement.

Al Ahrar said that "reopening of the canal must be a procedural move towards an over-all settlement ... including total withdrawal from occupied Arab territories."

The Israelis have repeatedly rejected the idea of total withdrawal from land they occupied in the 1967 war. Israel says that it is going to improve its security by retaining the Golan Heights of Syria, Sharm el Sheikh protecting the waterway to the port of Eilat and the Gaza Strip, and is also going to hold on to the Arab sector of Jerusalem.

In late March, Sadat renewed his offer to reopen the Suez Canal if Israel made a partial withdrawal from the Sinai peninsula. He said Egyptian troops would cross the canal as the Israelis pulled back, but Egypt would agree to "practical arrangements" to separate the Israeli and Egyptian forces.
